LORIMER INQUIRY NEXT WILL TAKE TRAIL OF PERJURY

Sifting of Conflicting Testimony Regarding Hines' Acts Assured.

THEN COME LEGISLATORS

Light Wanted on Every Fact Bearing in Any Way on Senatorial Election.

DEFENSE RELIES MUCH ON DENIALS

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., July 2.—[Special.]—Eighteen witnesses thus far have been examined by the senate committee which is investigating William Lorimer's title to the seat he occupies in the United States senate. The testimony of these has all related to the charges that Edward Hines raised a fund of $100,000 to "put Lorimer over."

Some of the witnesses have been examined with reference to the existence of a "jackpot" in the Illinois legislature. Up to date no evidence whatever has been taken with reference to the actual bribing of members of the legislature to vote for Mr. Lorimer.

When the committee meets again on Thursday of next week it will inquire further into the Hines charge for the purpose of establishing more definitely the truth with respect to it and to determine who is guilty of perjury.

Legislators to Be Questioned.

In addition the committee will begin the examination of members of the legislature of 1909 to determine how many, if any, were bribed to vote for Lorimer and what part the "jackpot" played in connection with his election.

Chairman Dillingham refuses to make public the names of the witnesses summoned, but as the committee expects to sit here ten days or two weeks before going to Chicago, it is evident the list is a long one.

The senate subcommittee which investigated the Lorimer case last fall examined forty-one witnesses in all. It already has become apparent the present inquiry will be far more extensive—indeed, exhaustive. It is the desire of the present committee to get every fact with any bearing upon the methods employed in Lorimer's election. In this way it will be possible for the committee to arrive at a correct judgment.

It is realized it would be most unfortunate for the body to make a divided report. The committee was framed with four members presumably favorable to Lorimer from the fact they had signed the first report exonerating him and had voted for his retention in the senate, and four presumably against him, one only of whom had voted in opposition to his retention and three of whom are new members of the senate.

Conclusive Report Wanted.

It is the wish of the senate that the report of this committee either establish beyond question Mr. Lorimer's right to the seat he holds, or demonstrate conclusively that he is unfit to sit in the upper house.

The character of Mr. Lorimer's defense already has developed. He will insist he was not a candidate for the senate until just before his election; that his only purpose in the maneuvers he conducted at Springfield was to defeat Hopkins for reelection; that personal friendship and his advocacy of the deep waterways proposition were responsible for the action of Democrats in voting for him; that no money was contributed or spent for his election, and that he is a victim of a conspiracy and persecution.

The attempt already has been made to show that the International Harvester company was inspired by its hostility to Lorimer to have Clarence S. Funk, its general manager, testify that Hines asked for $10,000 from the company.

Cook's Motive Assailed

So far as Wirt H. Cook, the Duluth lumberman, is concerned, Hines already has charged he is a blackmailer and was actuated by a desire to get revenge in testifying as to the criminal character of the telephone conversation which Hines had with Springfield from Cook's room in the Grand Pacific hotel.

As to the Marquette incident, which arose from the sworn statements of four men that Shelley B. Jones quoted Hines as saying he had "put Lorimer over" and had collected a fund of $100,000 to do it, Hines, Jones, and two other witnesses have sworn it never occurred.

Hines swore he has not been in Marquette since 1907, and Jones testified it was at this time he conversed with Hines and the latter told him he was interested in Lorimer, but he never heard any reference to money.

Mr. Hines has sworn he was not Lorimer's Warwick, but merely a messenger for the president and Senator Aldrich. The idea of money was so far from his mind that it required a suggestion from Mr. Funk to plant it therein; and then it was torn up by the roots and cast out as a result of a conversation he had immediately thereafter with Mr. Lorimer.

Contradictory of Funk.

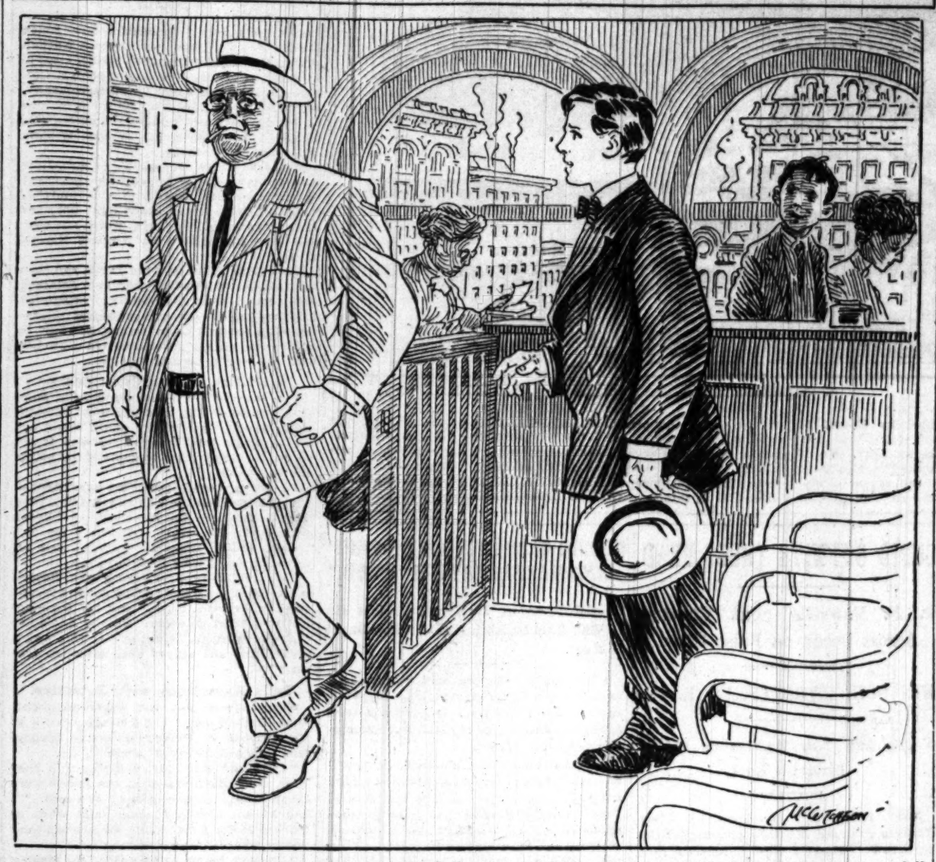

To deny that he went up to Mr. Funk in the Union League club, as the latter asserted, Hines added to the weight of his own statement the testimony of a lumberman—Fred Carney—with whom he has been on friendly terms for ten or twelve years, and Charles Hall, one of the lumber buyers of his firm.

Miss Carroll, the telephone operator of his company, testified she overheard his conversations with Senator Lorimer and Gov. Deneen, but could not recollect any other of the long distance telephone conversations Mr. Hines has conducted during the entire ten years of her service in his employ.

She had not thought of the conversation until after Funk and Cook testified at Spring-

DAWSON '11—FORTUNE HUNTER.

Dear Mother—Success at last is hovering near, with both arms full of laurel leaves. While I have not yet got my full name on a pay roll, yet I feel that I am worming my way on, a letter at a time. The ramparts and bastions of commerce can't hold out long against my combined assaults, and something soon will have to give, and it won't be your loving son, either. He couldn't if he tried. However, don't worry on that score, for I still have money left. They haven't got it all away from me yet, and before that time comes, Victory, from her proud perch upon my banners, will be eating out of my hand. The triumphal chariot upon which I plan a joyous ridedown Life's rugged stream is at the door, panting to be off, but on account of tire trouble there is a slight delay in starting.

Don't be discouraged! Success that comes too easily is not the best kind, and if I dropped into a fat job the very first thing, it would spoil my biography when future historians write it. You know that all successful men have modest beginnings, accompanied by slight disappointments. They are what make character, and while unpleasant at the time, like mathematics, they have a grand effect on mental discipline.

Thus far the Moguls of Finance have not shown that fierce competition for my services that I had hoped to see. But they will soon awake to the fact that there is a determined man in town, and then there will be articles in the financial columns about one Dawson getting a job. And then look out! Some fine day you will see coming down the pike eight white horses and a hack, within which will be seated the proud figure of your loving son—the erstwhile Napoleon of Job Hunters.

I've been having some very interesting and amusing experiences from the standpoint of a sociologist. I wish very much I were the latter so that I could enjoy them. I've been collecting data and statistics upon why business men do not wish to assume the responsibility of giving me a job. I think I hold the world's record for waiting to see busy men. They listen patiently to the story of my life, and ask me to come around next Thursday and they'll see what they can do. I wait impatiently for Thursday, and they forget all about it. One man told me to call at three, and when I got there he was leaving the office at 2:45. I tried to catch his eye but muffed, and he made a home run. I went to the office three times after that and learned that he had sailed for Europe. I don't believe I'll follow him.

I dreamed about you last night. We were eating fried chicken. That's the fourth time this week I've dreamed about eating, and it's only Thursday. When next I write I'll hope to have grand news, so don't be discouraged! Love to all and oceans of it for you.

M'CORMICK FLIES IN OWN AEROPLANE

Designs Machine on New Lines and Succeeds in Navigating the Air.

WILLARD PRAISES MODEL

Harold F. McCormick has succeeded in flying in an aeroplane which he designed and had built under his own direction. Further than this, Mr. McCormick's machine involves an idea which is entirely new in the history of aeronautics.

Mr. McCormick did not wish undue publicity given to his flights, and for that reason he visited the aviation field at a time when he would be least likely to attract attention. On one occasion he drove out to the grounds at 4 o'clock in the morning. His engine was tuned up and he rose from the ground several times, making short glides that covered the length of the field.

Charles F. Willard, who will be one of the stars of the international meet in August, visited the flying field of the Illinois Aero club, Fifty-second avenue and Twenty-sixth street, yesterday afternoon.

May Test Machine Today.

He came to Chicago for the purpose of testing the McCormick machine. The motor, however, needed further adjustment when he arrived at the grounds. He said, however, that if he could catch a train that would bring him to Owensboro, Ky., in time for the meet there tomorrow, he would inspect the machine again today and possibly make a flight in it.

"Of course, it's impossible to say just what this McCormick machine will do until I have seen it in the air," said the aviator. "Every inventor has ideas of his own. Some are good and some are not. They all have to be tried out. Just now the problem is to get stability in the air.

"The McCormick machine embodies an entirely new idea. The wings or planes, instead of being crosswise, are lengthwise. The idea is to give the machine longitudinal stability, in other words, to lessen greatly the danger of taking a header.

Has Greater Lifting Power.

"There is a greater surface of air resistance in this machine than in any other I have seen. 886 square feet, I believe. This, of course, means that it will have to have an engine of greater lifting power than the ordinary biplane."

Mr. McCormick, besides his own machine, is interested in the Romne-McCormick aeroplane, which will be among those entered at the meet of the Illinois Aero club, Tuesday. This is the umbrella shaped machine which met with disaster in Texas and in New York. Mr. Romne says that in both of these fields he was hampered by the crowds, a difficulty, he believes, that he will not have to cope with here.

Aviators Prepare for Meet.

The Aero club field presented a busy scene yesterday. Hangars were up and amateur bird men were hurrying to and fro, assembling their machines for the official opening of the field tomorrow.

POLICEMAN SLAIN; CAUSE OF TRAGEDY PROVES A MYSTERY

Patrick Fogerty Shot to Death In Front of Sister's House In Early Morning.

MURDERED FOR REVENGE?

Witness Says One of Three Thugs Spoke of "Arrest" Before Firing at Bluecoat.

OTHERS TELL OF A DRINKING BRAWL

Policeman Patrick Fogerty, traveling out of the Hyde Park station, was murdered in the Desplaines street district early yesterday morning under circumstances that will require close investigation. The department heads claim to be mystified.

A man named O'Brien is locked up on suspicion of knowing something about the circumstances, and the police are looking for another man by the name of Sullivan.

Fogerty, who was on furlough and dressed in citizens' clothes, was shot with his own revolver in the groin at Halsted and Pearce streets at 2:15 o'clock in the morning and died in Grace hospital without making any statement at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Official Report Hints at Holdup.

Subsequently, Sergeant Barren, attached to Desplaines street, and claiming to be one of the first to reach the wounded man, said Fogerty told him he was shot by three men who followed him out of M. A. Connelly's saloon, Halsted and Van Buren streets, but Charles Schultz, the bartender, who was taken to the hospital, insisted Fogerty had not been in the place, and neither had there been any group of men who might have committed the crime.

The official report from the Desplaines street station to Acting Assistant Chief Hunt sets forth that the shooting took place in front of the residence of Fogerty's sister, Mrs. Johanna Costello, 743 Pearce street; that Fogerty "was unable to make any statement or give a description of his assailants," but that "it is supposed he was the victim of holdup men, and two or more men took a part in the shooting."

Lieut. Michael Madden of the Desplaines street station is inclined to think Fogerty was the victim of a holdup. Fogerty was known as a heavy drinker. He was dismissed from the force for intoxication last summer, but was reinstated a few weeks later.

Tells of Spree in Sister's House.

According to Lieut. Madden, Fogerty left his home in Hyde Park to go to the west side about 9 o'clock Saturday night. There he met his nephew, Michael Hannon, who resides with Mrs. Costello Fogerty, and Hannon went to a moving picture show and stopped on the way to Mrs. Costello's in several saloons. Fogerty wanted Hannon to go to the Costello house for the night, but Hannon explained that he had given his coat to a boy to take to his room. Then it was decided to go after the coat. At the Costello residence Fogerty and Hannon met Thomas Grady and Thomas Leonard, other boarders, and the four men and possibly others took turn about going to Connelly's saloon for buckets of beer. All the men became intoxicated, and Fogerty was scarcely able to walk when he started for a Halsted street car.

Hannon, who claims to have been the first to reach the dying man's side, said he was attracted by the shot, and declared that everything indicated Fogerty had struggled with his assailants for a distance of at least twenty-five feet from the Costello residence. But neither Hannon nor the other men could explain away certain details. The minds of the men seemed badly muddled as a result of the spree.

Some Talk of "Revenge."

Other policemen set forth a theory that Fogerty might have been shot out of revenge for some arrest or attempted arrest. This seems untenable, as Fogerty's beat was miles away from the scene of the murder.

Bernard Friedman, a traveling salesman residing at 751 Pearce street, a witness to the shooting, told this story:

"I heard one of Fogerty's assailants say, 'You are the follow who tried to arrest us.' Two men rushed upon the policeman. The first man struck him on the jaw, knocking him against the railing guarding the stairway. Then the other fellow struck Fogerty and knocked him to the walk. Fogerty tried to reach for his pistol, but the first thug was too quick for the officer and shot him. Then they ran. It was over in a minute. I believe I will be able to identify the men."

Claims to Know Assailants.

Sergt. Barren said: "Fogerty told me three men had met him in Connelly's saloon and followed him. He gave me descriptions of his assailants, but became delirious before I could gather the details."

"Several policemen came here to question Fogerty this morning, but the injured man was too weak to talk, and he was only semi-conscious, anyhow," said the matron in charge of the hospital. "The investigators seemed badly disappointed because they couldn't get a statement."

Fogerty exhibited his revolver and his police badge, which he carried in his pocket, during the evening, but the revolver was not found after the shooting. This, with Friedman's story, leads the investigating detectives to believe that Fogerty tried to shoot his assailants and that they wrested the weapon away from him. Only the one shot was fired. Mrs. Costello's husband is a carpenter working in Detroit.

Detective John A. Maher, 1517 West Taylor street, of the Canalport avenue station, was wounded in the right leg last night at Twenty-second and Throop streets while attempting to arrest three Hungarian laborers who were shooting at each other.

GERMANY'S ACTS AROUSE FRANCE

Sending of Warship to Morocco Causes Stir in Paris and Advice of Britain Is Sought.

PLAN TO GRAB DISTRICT?

Kaiser's Subjects Move Upon Province of Sus, in Readiness for Partition of Land.

PARIS, July 2.—The sensation caused by Germany's action in sending a warship to Agadir, Morocco, showed no signs of abating today, and diplomatic circles are said to be in a state of ferment. At the president's garden party the Moroccan situation was the only topic of discussion, and Premier Caillaux conversed with most of the diplomats present, particularly Baron von Schoen, the German ambassador, on the subject.

The premier and M. de Selves, minister of foreign affairs, had a conference tonight, and later it was announced that the foreign minister would not accompany President Fallieres on his official visit to Holland tomorrow, his place being taken by M. Couyba, minister of commerce.

It is said an unofficial reply will be made to Germany's communication before Tuesday. The cabinet will meet and decide the terms of the reply, and the government wishes also to have in its possession beforehand the views of the cabinets of England and Russia.

Cambon Will Meet Grey.

Paul Cambon, the French ambassador at London, received a dispatch last night instructing him to place himself in communication with Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary. He will call on Sir Edward tomorrow. Jules Cambon, the French ambassador at Berlin, had a lengthy conference with M. de Selves today.

Public opinion, as voiced by the French newspapers, does not appear inclined to be alarmist, awaiting a more precise statement from Germany.

The reply of Foreign Minister de Selves to Ambassador von Schoen, as reported by the Temps, is considered as expressing the sentiments of the French public. According to the Temps, M. de Selves declared that he could not conceal the surprise and regret which the action of Germany had caused him. Without exaggerating the gravity of affairs, he pointed out that the manner chosen by the German government to manifest its anxiety for German interests in Morocco was likely to seem strange to French opinion.

May Upset Any Conference.

Attention was called to the ambassador that perhaps the dispatch of a warship to Agadir, where no trouble had been reported, was not calculated to facilitate an eventual conference.

Briefly, the French foreign minister conveyed to the German ambassador the impression that the decision of the imperial government, communicated to France after its execution, seemed not of a nature to create a grave situation, but was hardly in conformity with the intention of the two powers, as consecrated by the agreement of 1909, to treat each other with mutual confidence and cordiality.

The Temps does not believe that Morocco will ever again serve as a firebrand for European discord, and is of the opinion that the whole affair will be ended by negotiations.

Plans to Grab District?

BERLIN, July 2.—Germany in sending the gunboat Panther to Agadir and staking a claim in southern Morocco in anticipation of the possible partition of the country will take its share in the province of Sus, with its rich copper and mineral deposits, its great agricultural possibilities, and its equable climate, in which whites can live and work. This will be carved out unless France and Spain withdraw from the present adventure and really respect the integrity of Morocco.

This is confirmed by the semi-official statement which appears in the Cologne Gazette, pointing out that France and Spain, under assurances of purely temporary and benevolent action, landed troops and occupied territory in violation of the Algeciras act.

Germany, says the statement, is justified in taking steps to protect its interests. It has no intention of remaining permanently in Agadir, but will leave that town when regular conditions are restored in Morocco. This phrase evidently means until the retirement of the Franco-Spanish expeditions.

Adverse Comment in London.

LONDON, July 3, 3 a. m.—Germany's intervention in Morocco is the subject of considerable comment, mostly disparaging, concerning that country's action. The Standard says:

"Bismarckian tactics still prevail in Wilhelmstrasse. No opportunity is lost in taking a political rival at a disadvantage. The desire, which has been growing so fast among us lately to be on better terms with Germany, will suffer a serious setback."

PINK LEMONADE FULL OF INK.

Chicago Avenue Police Drink a Gallon Before Finding Joker Had Doctored It.

"Water? No, lemo for me," said Desk Sergeant Finn, at Chicago avenue police station, last night. Accordingly he made a tankful. Everybody who dropped into the station drank it.

"But where did you get the pink dope to make it that circus color?" asked Dave McLean after drinking his fourth glass.

"Pink?" asked Finn. He tasted. "By dang it's full of red ink," he yelled. And it was. There's a warrant out for the joker.

HEAT KILLS SEVEN; FOUR MEN DROWN; RELIEF IN DOUBT

Twenty-two Burial Permits Issued for Babies; Mercury Touches 98.

FORECAST GIVES SOME HOPE

Thousands Turned Away by Excursion Steamers, Loaded to Capacity.

SANE FOURTH MAY BE COOLER

SAVE THE BABIES!

While you watch the thermometer mount these hot July and August days think of the thousands of ill-nourished infants of the poor, whimpering in Halsted street tenements, in the hovels of the Ghetto, in abject need of ICE.

THE TRIBUNE ICE FUND now is open for subscriptions. Babies will perish unless ICE is provided for them.

A small subscription will give relief, may save a life. Send the rescue contributions to THE ICE FUND, THE TRIBUNE.

Chicago sweltered and suffered yesterday through one of the hottest days in a year that has already broken many heat records. It was a day of rest, of course, on which thousands were out of the city, and most of those less fortunate had little or no work to do, but when the searing sun sank to rest it left behind this record:

Killed by heat	7
Drowned	4
Prostrated (police returns)	7
Permits to bury babies	22
Maximum temperature	98

According to the weather forecast, positive relief will not come before tonight. The wind is expected to swing into the northwest then, and there is a promise of "somewhat lower temperature."

Humidity Remarkably Low.

That the suffering was not more general and that more persons did not succumb to the heat was due to the low humidity. When the thermometer stood at the highest mark the humidity was lowest, 35 per cent, and it climbed only to 43 per cent. A week ago, with the maximum temperature only 85 degrees, the humidity was 88 per cent, and the suffering was more intense than yesterday.

Two hundred thousand or more Chicagoans fled Saturday afternoon and night, by rail and boat, to the comparative coolness of the summer resorts. Fifteen thousand, unable to crowd aboard excursion steamers, loaded to capacity, went reluctantly back to the searing clutches of the streets.

From 3 o'clock until 4 o'clock in the afternoon the thermometer stood at 98 degrees. Then it declined little by little to 93. At 6 o'clock it was still 97, but when the sun passed into shadow dropped in an hour to 94. After that the decline was slower.

HANSON, CHRIST, 27 years old, 1338 Grand avenue; stricken at home; taken to Norwegian Deaconess hospital; condition critical.

KELL, N., Jersey City, N. J., 46 years old; overcome at the Union depot while on his way home from a western trip; taken by the depot authorities to Grace hospital, where it was said he will recover.

SCHLEWITT, CHARLES, 49 years old, 1609 Wells street; overcome at plant of American Can company; taken home; serious.

TENDEOWSKI, GEORGE, 9 years old, 1058 North Hermitage avenue; overcome at Milwaukee and Edgewood avenues; taken home; serious.

ZABEL, ANTONE, 30 years old, 531 West Thirteenth street; overcome in chair; county hospital.

Twenty-two Babies Dead.

Tenement babies were the worst sufferers, as a class. Before the day was half gone burial permits were being applied for with terrible regularity, and the day ended with a total of twenty-two babies reported dead —about one for each hour of the heat. While the health department does not list such deaths as due directly to the heat, the records show that nine out of ten infant deaths in the heated term are the result of the ailments common to poverty—poverty which has not the means to protect itself against the horrors of a hot spell in the city.

The need of still more bathing beaches in Chicago was forcefully illustrated. Thousands who wished to swim could not for lack of accommodations; other thousands were compelled to mingle with the rowdies and riff-raff of the exploited privately operated beaches. At Wilson beach a special detachment of police was helpless in the face of a multitude which threw bottles, shrieked oaths, and turned the beach generally into a ruffians' gathering place. Women of the demi-monde spoke as they pleased, insulted where they pleased, and invited where they pleased. No one checked their "holiday enjoyment."

Hundreds See One Drowning.

The drowning of Drewie Lickleitter was witnessed by hundreds of bathers, who were powerless to aid him. The young man plunged from the diving stand at the Lincoln park bathing beach and failed to reappear. Thomas Belden, a life saver, dove again and again at the point where the boy had disappeared. After an hour's work his body was brought to the surface and taken to undertaking rooms at 2624 North Clark street. It was later identified by R. C. Sheeps, Lickleitter's roommate. Both young men have been serving the Chicago Historical society as clerks. Young Lickleitter came to Chicago recently from Staunton, Va., where his people live.

Chicago's stay-at-homes suffered more, or less, perhaps, than the thousands who went by train, boat, and motor into the north resorts. Many of the stay-at-homes were forced to accept the situation, so great was the rush to get away. Every boat line leaving Chicago was swamped with excursionists.

The happy-go-lucky spirit of the voyagers was shown by the fact that they were waltzing and two stepping on the day boats as early as 9 o'clock yesterday morning. Ballrooms opened at 9 o'clock, an hour before the heavily freighted steamers went down the river.

The vacationists were of all ages and types. There was the short, fat, bald headed father, good naturedly elbowing passengers away from the dock rail so that his wife and offspring might have best seats. The Theodore Roosevelt carried a "silly season" bridal party, whose names could not be learned.

4,000 on Milwaukee Ship.

It is said that the day boats carried about 15,000 passengers, divided evenly, except that the big whaleback Christopher Columbus, bound for Milwaukee, carried nearly 4,000.

Church, lodge, and athletic clubs made up picnic parties on several of the boats. The Roosevelt alone carried eight different parties—the uniform rank of the Modern Woodmen of America, the Jeffersonian club, the Protected Home circle, the Del Rey Athletic club, the Homewood Athletic club, St. Nicholas fife and drum corps, the Wheeling club, and the West Side club.

Tickets for passage were not only sold at boat offices, but way uptown. Ticket sellers competed with newsboys in attracting passersby. Most of these itinerant ticket officers were lodge or society men and women anxious to swell the size of their outing party.

Babies' Chief Need? Ice!

Twenty-two babies died from heat oppression. Twenty-two babies would have lived, surviving to robust maturity, if doctors are to be believed, if a common love of babies is sincere.

Chicago has good reason to expect heat crests during July and August that will set precedents for the weather records. June was the harbinger for this summer season of suffering. June set records. What if July and August will go beyond thermometer high marks?

Whether or not the weather in the middle summer season surpasses all other torrid days, there is no doubt that the babies and the sick of the poor will lie in misery—and, probably, expire—because of needed cooling of food.

What housewife does not know that milk decomposes rapidly in summer months when there is no ice in the house? Fancy sweltering in bed all day—air scant, heat intense; no ice for relief.

Babies are naturally more sensitive to atmospheric conditions than grownups. If an adult, with his volition, complains severely all day because of upper-ninety temperatures, how does a delicate infant feel, lying in a hot bed, in a stuffy tenement, with bad ventilation and perfunctory attention? Is there any chance for this baby when there is not a pound of ice in the house?

For the sixth season THE TRIBUNE opens its ice fund. Charities there are the year around that go to help and save the poor. Surely there is no more commendable, necessary help for the poor infants than ice in the summer time. Baby mortalities in the hot months emphasize this. Right now is when the terrible toll of deaths is being called in the poor districts. Child welfare organizations have compiled charts showing the awful percentage of deaths in neighborhoods of laborers, marking each death with a dot. These dots are being sprinkled over the map of Chicago today. Ice would check many of these dot marks.

Mail Subscriptions to Fund.

Every baby lover in Chicago should send in a subscription to keep these dots off the map. They are flagrantly red discredit marks—marks showing the cruel misanthropy of the city. Babies prattling in happy infancy grow up to sturdy citizens. Maybe the weal of this country some day will devolve upon these selfsame babies!

Aren't they worth saving from the grave? Mail subscriptions to the Ice Fund of THE TRIBUNE. The fund is to be apportioned over the city by Sherman C. Kingsley, superintendent of the United Charities, 167 La Salle street.

Mr. Kingsley will deputize the remainder of the task to the tent camps of the Elizabeth McCormick baby fund and the Infant Welfare society, which have stations throughout the city. Just mail the subscriptions to the Ice Fund of THE TRIBUNE, and realize that you are saving lives, relieving misery, helping to build Chicago into a better city.

CHICAGO GIRL DROWNED.

Cincinnati, O., July 2.—[Special.]—While rowing in the Big Miami river near Miamisburg this afternoon Miss Cora Stegman of Chicago and John Fisher, living at North Fairmount, a suburb of Cincinnati, were drowned. Nobody saw them go down. Early this evening people saw the empty boat floating on the river, began an investigation, and finally found the body of Miss Stegman. Fisher's body has not yet been recovered.

"THANKS to the Sane Fourth association and the increasing patriotic intelligence of the citizens of Chicago, this Fourth from all indications will be the sanest ever held in Chicago."—Chief of Police John McWeeny.

With the completion last night of arrangements for the sanest, greatest Independence day celebration in the history of Chicago, a twelve years campaign of rationalism in Fourth of July observances has been brought to a successful close.

Education, organization, and effective cooperation have been the watchwords of the Chicago Sane Fourth association, and the idea fostered and popularized by THE TRIBUNE has progressed steadily in the public favor until at last the city has sounded the call which brings all the widely diversified racial elements into an effective combination for the observance of the country's greatest holiday.

That the city will for the first time in its history find the devotees of the old fashioned, dangerous, explosive style of celebration far in the minority is indicated by the remarkable decrease in the number of early celebrators. No early accidents have been reported as yet, and from the small amount of fireworks sold as compared with former years it is believed that Chicago's long cherished ideal of an Independence day glorious in every sense of the word, but free from the trail of accident and sorrow that has accompanied other Fourth of July celebrations, is at last to be realized.

The work of building the reviewing stand at Congress street and Michigan avenue will be begun today. The stand, which will accommodate about 1,000 persons, will be the official place from which Gov. Deneen and Mayor Harrison will review the parade.

Parade Starts at 10 A. M.

The parade and pageant will start at Thirty-ninth street and Michigan avenue at 10 a. m. instead of 10:30, as previously announced, and will follow the line of march as heretofore published, disbanding at Van Buren and State streets.

In the pageant twenty floats and seventeen nations will be represented, while 5,000 people is the estimated number of those who will take part in the parade.

The national float representations follow:

Irish—"St. Patrick at the Court of Tara."

Greek—"The Ancient Parthenon."

Italian—"The Progress of the World Since the Invention of Marconi."

Bohemian—Allegorical representation of Bohemia's part in the evolution of America.

Polish—"The Triumph of Sobieski."

German—National representation.

United Kingdom—Float, national amalgamation of the Irish, English, Scotch, and Welsh.

Swiss—National representation.

Lithuanian—National representation.

Swedish—"Entrance of King Oscar the Great."

Plans for the Parade.

The nationalities will appear in alphabetical formation, the Bohemian first and the Swiss last, the whole to be headed by a platoon of police. Directly behind the police will come Marshal M. F. Girten and his staff. Chief McWeeny, mounted and accompanied by a detail of picked men, will follow the marshal. Preceding the national floats will come the historical subjects represented in the floats of the Sane Fourth association.

"The Chicago Massacre," "Washington Crossing the Delaware," "Father Marquette's Chicago Camp," and "Going to War," with an allegorical representation of the "Union of the North and South," will complete the pageant.

At Jackson park in the evening the patriotic spirit will find full expression in the historical pageant arranged by the woman's clubs of Chicago. The original reading of the declaration of independence will be graphically protrayed, a company of the First regiment, I. N. G., lending an additional military touch to the tableaux of the burning of New York.

Prominent actors and students of the Art Institute will take part in the pageant and tableaux which will be shown in four separate episodes. About 250 actors will take part in the historical representations.

"Colonial Riots" to Be Shown.

The first episode, under the direction of Fred Cowley, will represent the colonial riots about Boston. The second, with Frank Hardin in charge as Washington, shows the Father of his Country giving up his home at Mount Vernon to take part in the war. The remaining two historical episodes will engage the efforts of a group of actors of the Chicago Hebrew institute, assisted by the Illinois national guard, in enacting the battle of Lexington.

The final scene, that of the tearing down of the statue of King George III., with the background of burning New York as a setting for the representation, will be presented by members of the Chicago Palette and Chisel club, under the direction of Carl Scheffler. Band concerts will appear as additional features of the evening programs in all the parks. At Bessemer, Sherman, McKinley, Washington, and Palmer parks and Mark White, Davis, and Cornell squares the concerts will supplement the celebrations previously arranged.

At Hinsdale and Fernwood.

At Hinsdale, which claims the honor of being the first suburb of Chicago to pass an absolutely prohibitive ordinance in regard to the sale of fireworks, the Village league has the celebration in charge.

It will be opened by a parade, in which, it is announced, every vehicle in the village will take part. Advertising floats and Boy Scout drills will also be features. Congressman Martin B. Madden will be the principal orator at the afternoon exercises.

At Fernwood the Fourth also will be sensibly observed. C. J. Doyle, state fire marshal, will deliver the chief address at 7:30 p. m., followed by Walter D. Moody, managing director of the Chicago plan commission.

MANY CITIES "SAFE AND SANE."

Indianapolis, Ind., July 2.—[Special.]—Superintendent of Police Hyland and the board of public safety have agreed on a list of regulations to govern the use of fireworks on the Fourth in Indianapolis, and if it is not a safe and sane Fourth it will be because the police disobey strict orders.

The police will not permit the discharge of any fireworks on the evening of July 3, as has been the custom. The open season is between 4 a. m. and midnight. The hours are fixed by ordinance.

Janesville Plans Big Celebration.

Janesville, Wis., July 2.—[Special.]—Janesville plans for a sane Fourth with a military parade and sham battle. The Wisconsin department of the United Spanish War Veterans will be holding its annual encampment and eight companies of state troops and battery A of Milwaukee have been invited to be present.

Springfield Will Be Noisy.

Springfield, Ill., July 2.—[Special.]—This city is promised plenty of noise on the Fourth. Chief of Police Kramer several days ago issued an edict against the general use of explosives, but firecrackers, big and little, and fireworks of all kinds are having a big sale.

Joliet for Safe and Sane Fourth.

Joliet, Ill., July 2.—[Special.]—Joliet began early to provide for a safe and sane celebration by organizing a Municipal Fourth association last May. It has planned an all day program with a parade and ending at night with a pyrotechnical display costing $2,000.

La Salle Will Be Fireworksless.

La Salle, Ill., July 2.—[Special.]—La Salle will have a sane Fourth. The city council has prohibited fireworks of every description. The dealers carried no stocks this year.

Quiet Fourth for Mattoon.

Mattoon, Ill., July 2.—[Special.]—By order of Mayor E. T. Guthrie, Mattoon will have a quiet Fourth of July. There is an ordinance forbidding even the sale of toy or cap pistols and it is being enforced. Loud explosives of all sorts are forbidden.

Eight Celebrations in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 2.—[Special.]—Plans for Milwaukee's sane Fourth provide for eight simultaneous celebrations in the city's parks. The manner in which the sane laws will be enforced was instanced by an arrest today for the shooting of a single ordinary sized firecracker.

Kansas Guards Against Lockjaw.

Topeka, Kas., July 2.—[Special.]—The state of Kansas will distribute free anti-toxin to prevent Fourth of July lockjaw.

50,000 SEEK SEATS TO SEE NATIONAL MILITARY TOURNEY

Reservations Will Begin Thursday—30,000 in Grandstand Free to the Public.

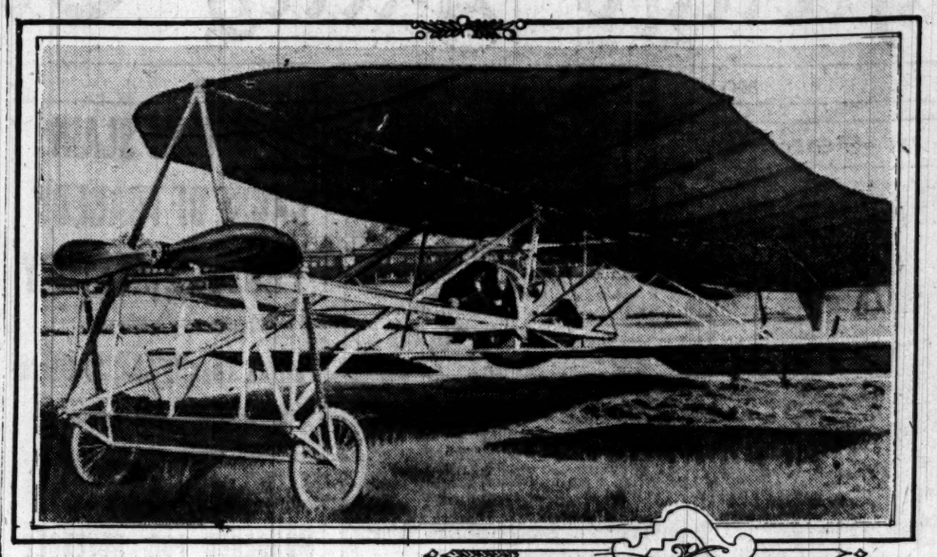

Arrangements for seating the thousands who will attend the national military tournament to be held in Grant park, July 23 to 30, under the auspices of the Chicago Association of Commerce were completed yesterday. Reservations will begin Thursday at the headquarters in the Great Northern building. More than 50,000 requests for seats have been received already by Manager John R. Young.

The arrangements will be somewhat different from last year. There will be 40,000 seats in the grandstand. Of these 30,000 will be free to the public, while 10,000 will be sold to help defray the expenses of the maneuvers.

The boxes, of which there will be ninety-two, are to be just back of the bandstand on the west side of the arena, instead of being strung along the entire west front of the grandstand. This change was due to some protest about the dust thrown up by the cavalry.

The work of building the big grandstand will begin the latter part of this week. More than 1,000,000 feet of lumber will be used.

New Type of Aeroplane, Invented by H. F. McCormick.

This is a new type of aeroplane invented by Harold F. McCormick and constructed under his supervision. It has several unusual features for the work of an amateur, one of them being that it has made successful flights. The idea is to give greater longitudinal stability than in other types of machine. To accomplish this the main planes run lengthwise of the craft, this arrangement being intended to prevent the aviator from "taking a header." The position of the propeller, far in front, has won favorable criticism from experts, on the theory that it is so placed as to utilize every possible bit of power in the backward thrust, there being nothing immediately behind it to interfere with its action on the air.

CUPID OUTWITS TRUST HEAD

T. F. Manville Sent Chasing Across Ocean on False Clew.

HIS SON MARRIES IN EAST.

Young Man Now Figures on Double Tying the Knot.

New York, July 2.—[Special.]—When Thomas Franklin Manville, president of the so-called "asbestos trust" reaches New York on the Amerika after a trip across the Atlantic in pursuit of his son, Thomas Franklin Manville Jr., 19 years old, he will learn the youthful heir to the Manville millions has taken advantage of his absence by getting married twice.

It was a false "tip" which Mr. Manville had when he received a telephone message at his office that his son had departed for Europe in quest of a bride. Wishing to keep the matter a secret he did not investigate, but engaged passage on the first fast steamship for Southampton. He did not find his son in London for the reason that the young man had not left New York.

Son Marries as a Joke.

Several days after his father's departure for England young Manville, after an ardent courtship of five days, suggested to Miss Florence E. Huber of Williamsport, Pa., whom he met on June 3 last, that it would be a joke on Mr. Manville Sr. if they should get married. Miss Huber agreed with him.

They were married at the city hall by Ald. Drescher on June 8. After three weeks at Mrs. Manville's home in Williamsport they returned to New York today and announced their marriage.

"But we are going to get married all over again on Monday," said young Mr. Manville at the Waldorf Astoria today. "It is this way, you see. My father will be indignant when he learns of my marriage. My wife and I have talked the matter over and rather than have father try to annul the marriage on the ground of my age we are going to Baltimore to have a second wedding. In Maryland, I am told, my age will not imperil the validity of our marriage. We are not going to take any chances with father."

In Idaho in November, 1909, Mrs. T. F. Manville Sr., who resides with her daughter in this city, obtained a divorce on the ground of desertion. The decree gave her the custody of her daughter and directed that the son remain with the father. Manville Sr. is reputed to be worth more than $10,000,000.

Will Meet Parent on Pier.

After making their trip to Baltimore, where their second marriage will take place at the Belvidere hotel tomorrow afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Manville Jr. will return to New York and make their home at the Waldorf-Astoria. They will be at the Hamburg-American pier to meet the stern parent when he arrives from Europe.

"If father will act only half way decent about this matter," said young Mr. Manville, "I will settle down and show him I can succeed in business. I am counting on Florence winning him over. If she doesn't succeed, I guess I'm going to be up against it."

PAINT DOG FOR SACRIFICE.

Philadelphia Family Provides Substitute for Black and Tan Terrier Which Bit Child.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 2.—[Special.]—Rather than kill their black and tan terrier, which bit a child, George Mockewicz and his wife, 1650 South Lee street, are said to have shipped their dog to the country, purchased another, painted it to resemble the family pet, and set about beating the animal to death. Neighbors complained and relatives of the injured child started an investigation which revealed the ruse. Arrests were made.

EDWARD J. BUCKLEY JR., 2 years and 8 months old, son of Fire Marshal and Mrs. Edward J. Buckley, died at the home of his parents, 820 La Salle avenue, yesterday afternoon. The child had been ill for a week. Mrs. Buckley said last night that death was due to pneumonia, but the death certificate gives the cause of death as meningitis. The funeral will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

FELIX MOTTL, director of the Royal opera at Munich, is dead. His death was caused by hardening of the arteries and pneumonia. He was married on June 23 to Senta Fassbender. His marriage to his first wife was dissolved on Aug. 5, 1910. He was at one time conductor of the New York Philharmonic society.

CHARLES W. LESTER, an old settler, died Saturday at his residence at 5417 Michigan avenue. He was born in London, England, in March, 1857, and came to Chicago in 1880, where he went into the jewelry business.

BET ON RACES AT HAWTHORNE? BOOKMAKERS SAY IT'S "FIXED."

Sheriff Zimmer, However, Insists He Will Stop Gambling at the Two Days' Meet.

What will be the real racing announced to take place at Hawthorne track in seven years is advertised for today and tomorrow under the auspices of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

Word has been passed out that betting will be a part of the program and bookmakers are flocking to the track. Despite this general "tip" Sheriff Zimmer has asserted that gambling will be prohibited and the officials of the track have made an equally positive announcement that there will be no betting.

The management of the races has sent special invitations to the sheriff, Mayor Harrison, and other city and county officials.

Many horses from Latonia have been shipped here for the meet and a six race program that includes such horses as John Louis, Black Mate, Romple, Hannis, and Tony W. has been arranged for today. Jockeys from the big tracks are on hand in abundance.

Several of the bookmakers who expect to take bets today were out at the track yesterday for the athletic events.

"Sure, I'm going to be on the job tomorrow," said one man. "I don't know just how they will manage it, but I've been tipped that everything will be fixed."

Sheriff Zimmer said:

"There will be no betting at the track tomorrow. I am going to be there myself and my office will be well represented. There will be no betting."

INVITES GIRLS TO COLONY TO ESCAPE WEALTH'S EVILS.

Woman Artist Offers to Reform Society by Teaching Daughters of Rich New Lessons.

Grand Junction, Colo., July 2.—[Special.]—Mrs. Beatrice Farnham Otto, the Boston artist who was recently married on the top of Independence rock to John Otto, the hermit of Monument cañon, is planning to start a colony of girls within the new government park.

The artist bride, who is wealthy in her own right, has invited more than a score of young women acquaintances, some of them the daughters of millionaires and leaders in society, to leave their homes in the east and become members of "Independence colony."

"There is more real manhood and womanhood among the lowest tribes of Indians in the west," she said, "than in the homes of the 'four hundreds' in New York, Chicago, or any other eastern city."

"You can hardly blame our society girls for their tendency to become dolls," she added. "They are trained to it from babyhood if they have wealthy parents. When an honest, hard working young man asks her to become his wife she looks upon him askance unless she can be maintained in the style to which she has been accustomed."

VEDRINES FLIES ACROSS BRITISH CHANNEL IN RACE.

Charles G. Bennett, secretary of the United States senate, and Frank Harper, secretary to Theodore Roosevelt, also went aloft with Sopwith.

MRS. JENKINS CHARGES PLOT

Says She Was Made Prisoner in Chicago in Effort to Aid Allen.

ASKED TO SIGN RELEASE.

Explains Gem Recovery: Declares She Befriended Mrs. W. A. Russell.

New York, July 2—[Special.]—Mrs. Helen Dwelle Jenkins, who has charged Nathan Allen, the multimillionaire leather manufacturer of Kenosha, Wis., and John R. Collins, president of the Memphis Coal company, with smuggling into this country a fortune in jewels, answered tonight the sensational charges made against her by Mrs. William A. Russell of Yonkers.

Mrs. Jenkins not only answered Mrs. Russell, but also made a complete statement concerning her relations with Allen and Collins, and threw considerable light upon the disappearance of her gems, which has been called by the police "an Arabian Nights' mystery."

She told in detail how the jewels had been returned to her, how she had been detained at Evanston, Ill., while a detective attempted to force her to sign an agreement releasing Allen from all future claims, and how, in order to regain her jewels, she had to put her name to such a document.

Calls Mrs. Russell Unfortunate.

"In the first place, let me make it plain that I consider Mrs. Russell a most unfortunate woman," she said, "and I would not say a single word against her were it not to set the public right on some of the points she has made.

"I offered her the use of my apartment in the Lorraine for a few days, and there I fed her, clothed her, and furnished her children with food. In return for this I am attacked, called uncouth, illiterate, and an adventuress. I deny I am illiterate.

"My real reason for taking Mrs. Russell to live with me was to bring about a reconciliation between herself and her husband. She would not go away. Finally I told her that she must go. Her reply to this was a threat, and she stayed until after the robbery."

Tells Experience with Detective.

Mrs. Jenkins told her experience with Supt. Sutherland of the Chicago branch of the Mooney & Boland Detective agency, who returned the stolen jewels to her.

"I did not meet Mr. Sutherland in New York until four days after the jewels were taken from my strong box," she said. "I had known him in Chicago, and when he learned of the theft he sent me a dozen telegrams offering assistance.

"Then he began to talk about my signing a paper releasing Mr. Allen. I told him I had no claim against Mr. Allen, that I wanted no money, and that my only wish was to get back my gems.

"One day I was summoned to Chicago to identify my jewels, which Mr. Sutherland said he had found in the hands of a crook. I was accompanied by Mr. Morris, Lieut. Braun of the Central office, and a sister. At Evanston Collins entered the train and told me to get off. I trusted him, then, and I unhesitatingly went with him, leaving the rest to go on to Chicago.

"I was taken to a house and held a prisoner while effort was made to make me sign a paper releasing Mr. Allen from all claims. I was offered all sorts of inducements, but refused, and it was only when I threatened to send for Lieut. Braun that they let me go."

ALLEN TO FIGHT GEM CASE.

Nathan Allen, the Kenosha multi-millionaire, accused by Mrs. Helen Dwelle Jenkins of New York of having assisted in smuggling $300,000 worth of diamonds into the United States, spent all of yesterday in consultation with his counsel, Attorney W. S. Forrest of Chicago. It was late in the day when Allen allowed himself a little relaxation by taking an automobile ride with his wife.

All attempts to secure a statement regarding the charges brought by Mrs. Jenkins from either Mr. Allen or his counsel were in vain. A reporter, who sent his card to Mr. Allen, was told that he had nothing to say, and Attorney Forrest was equally uncommunicative.

MENINGITIS CURE TOLD BY FLEXNER

Director of Rockefeller Institute Declares Malady Common and Highly Fatal.

FREQUENT AMONG BABES.

Monkeys Regularly Saved from Dying of Disease by Injection of Immune Serum of Goat.

New York, July 2.—[Special.]—Dr. Simon Flexner, director of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, announces in the current issue of the Journal of American Medical Association that it has been discovered that cerebro-spinal meningitis, secondary to influenza or the grip, is far from uncommon and is highly fatal. At the same time, he tells of the outcome of experiments carried on in the institution, resulting in the discovery of a cure for the malady.

"That influenzal cerebro-spinal meningitis is by no means a rare affection is being shown by the increasing number of reports of its occurrence, and which have terminated fatally" says Dr. Flexner.

"Influenzal meningitis is more frequent among infants and children than among adults. It sometimes follows an undoubted influenza bacillus infections of the respiratory tract, and sometimes develops independently of obvious disease of that tract.

Experiment at Institute.

"The fact of the frequency and severity of influenzal meningitis was impressed on us at the Rockefeller institute, and we undertook the experimental investigation of this highly fatal disease. Dr. Wollstein was able to show, first, that the injection of virulent cultures of bacillus influenza into the subdural space of several species of monkeys by lumbar puncture would set up a severe and usually fatal form of acute cerebro-spinal meningitis that reproduced the clinical and pathological effects observed in the spontaneous disease occurring in human beings.

"The effects of the inoculations begin to be apparent about five hours after the injection, and death may result as early as thirty-six hours after the inoculation, or it may be delayed for three or four days.

"The experimental production of an influenzal meningitis was regarded merely as preliminary to the attempt to influence the course of the infection by means of the local application of a therapeutic agent. An efficient one for the experimental infection has been found in an immune serum prepared in the goat by the long continued, repeated injection of virulent cultures of bacillus influenza.

Monkeys Saved from Death.

"It has been found possible to rescue monkeys regularly from the fatal effects of the subdural inoculation of cultures of the influenza bacillus through daily injection, by means of lumbar puncture, of the immune serum for three or four days. Serum injections produce an arrest of the multiplication of the bacilli and bring about a free phagocylosis, with which is connected the cessation of the emigration of leukocytes and a consequent clearing of the cerebro-spinal fluid.

"In view of the severe conditions surrounding influenzal maningitis in human beings, it would seem desirable to apply the serum to the treatment of the spontaneous disease. If this should be done, then every effort should be directed to the making of the bacteriologic diagnosis at the earliest possible moment and the employment of a serum that has been prepared with virulent influenza bacilli and that shows a high degree of opsonic value.

"The testing of the anti-influenzal serum will be confined, for the present, to a few places in which its effects can be carefully observed and controlled before it is offered for more general use."

STINE COLLECTOR NAMED AT LAST

Patrick Fitzgerald Asked Where Is $8,000 at Meeting of United Police.

SLUSH FUND HEAD SCORED

Before Election of New Officials Jerry Horrigan Denounces Missing Man.

Echoes of THE TRIBUNE'S expose of William F. Stine and his disappearance with $42,000 of the "slush fund," raised on the pretense of influencing a councilmanic increase of salaries, were heard yesterday. The United Police held a meeting for the purpose of electing a successor to the missing Stine. The names of collectors, which State's Attorney Wayman had sought in vain to learn, were openly mentioned.

Daniel Murphy of the Fillmore street station made the first mention of the "Stine fund." The storm that broke threatened for a time to end in something more serious than angry words. As a result of the charges made by Murphy the name of at least one man has been found who "squealed."

"While we are about this thing let us do it so that there will be no chance of a come back," he shouted. "Let us make a clean sweep and oust forever these creatures who have long held office."

He was unable to finish before Policeman Patrick Fitzgerald of the Hinman street station, and branded as the official collector for the Maxwell street division, was on his feet and shouting to be heard.

"What right have you to talk at this meeting, Murphy?" he demanded. "You're not in good standing and are not paid up by a long shot. It is such fellows as you that put us on the rocks."

Asks About $8,000.

"O, yes, I'm in good standing," was Murphy's retort, "but I'm not taking any chances with paying dues to you. Why don't you tell these men here what you did with that $8,000 you collected, presumably for Stine? How much of it reached Stine, and how many of the men at Hinman street have paid you dues since then? The story is an old one, but you weren't called to the north side, were you?"

There was a wild demonstration when Murphy sat down. It was some minutes before the chairman was able to restore order. Fitzgerald has long been connected with the Hinman street station and is said to have won the enmity of many of his companions when Stine disappeared. The men in his station are still waiting for $6.50, having been paid $13.50 of the amount contributed toward the "fund."

Horrigan Also Attacks Stine.

Sergeant "Jerry" Horrigan made a speech denouncing Stine.

"The recent unpleasant experience we have had should teach this organization a lesson when it comes to the choice of officers," he said. "The members have been fools in that respect, and we should make no similar mistake in the future.

"There is no excuse for policemen to go wrong on men of bad character. Your whole experience is with the sort. You see them every day in the police stations, in the corridors of the Criminal Court building. You ought to be readers enough of character to pick out the right kind of men for the officials of your own organization.

"This unpleasant experience has cost us members and resulted in almost a demoralization of the organization, and it's all because you elected an unfit man, one I never voted for, and a lot of others—but he was elected. We are starting right this afternoon by electing men in office who are right. Let's keep it up."

Patrolman Edward J. Dodd, who was one of the custodians of the fund before its disappearance, acted as sergeant at arms at the convention and made one short significant speech during the proceedings when a vote of thanks was tendered Michael F. Sullivan, attorney for the organization.

Memberships Drops to 2,800.

"I just want to say that motion is all right," he said. "I've had something to do with the attorney in the last year and he's all we could want. A whole lot of his work shows, but the best of it is behind the curtain. Mr Sullivan is deserving of the thanks of this convention.'

According to the members of the organization the membership, because of the Stine exposé, has decreased from 3,800 to 2,800, but a motion to suspend the constitution and allow dropped members to come back without paying up back dues was lost.

The election itself was a quiet affair, as the once promised fight against the "harmony" ticket failed to materialize. Policeman Walter E. Bullis, mentioned some time ago as the insurgent candidate for president, did not get a vote, and Patrick E. Dwyer, retiring treasurer, was elected president unanimously.

FRAZIER MAKES NEW FRAUD CHARGES IN GARY ELECTIONS.

Henchman of Mayor Knotts Returns After Arrest for Perjury—Says Clerks Used "Ring Method."

"Diamond Bill" Frazier, a henchman of Mayor Knotts of Gary, Ind., returned to the "steel city" yesterday and spread turmoil in his path. Today the conspiracy cases against Mayor Knotts and other city officials will go to the jury. Other cases may follow, for Frazier is said to have made new affidavits yesterday, which will involve A. Howard Bell, former minute clerk of the Indiana legislature; Oscar Schmidt, whose whereabouts are unknown; Olin Holmes, president of the South Side Savings and Trust company, and Richard Winkler.

Frazier was arrested on Saturday at Vincennes, Ind., on the charge of perjury in swearing before the grand jury which heard the cases against Knotts and his political colleagues that accusations made by him charging irregularities in the elections by the mayor's friends were false.

Yesterday Frazier is said to have made new affidavits charging that clerks of the election marked ballots by the "ring method," each wearing a ring in which was set a pencil point with which they could mark ballots without detection.

SEE TRIAL COMES TO CRISIS

"Absolute Life" Leader Depends on Proselytes' Testimony.

WORSHIPS WITH DISCIPLES.

Spends Day at Bridges' Home; Talks with Mona Rees and Attorneys.

Evelyn Arthur See will not take the stand in his trial for the abduction of Mildred Bridges. This question, long a source of perplexity to the prosecution, has been finally and positively decided, say the lawyers for the defense.

All that the state will learn of the inner mazes of the "absolute life" it must wring from the feminine disciples of See who have taken the stand in his defense. Behind their skirts "the dictator" has hidden, and there he will remain, protected doubly by their loyalty and by his constitutional rights not to give testimony which might incriminate him.

The authorship of the "Book of Truth"; the meaning of its darker passages; the final purpose of the "life"; the meaning of See's letters to Mrs. Bridges and to Mona Rees—all these the state must extract from the devoted followers of the man. The "God of Passion" will neither admit nor deny.

Women Resume Stand Today.

The defense will continue with Mrs. Felicia Rees this morning and probably into the afternoon. After her, the next witness is expected to be Mrs. Stephen H. Bridges, who will testify that she wrote many portions of the book which are not included in the authorship of Mrs. Rees. When this is concluded the defense expects to introduce Mona Rees to account for the other incriminating portions, thus exonerating See from all blame.

Today See will sit in the courtroom an accused criminal and the target for the shafts of the state's attorneys. Yesterday he had nothing to do except to revel in his prestige as author of the "Absolute Life" and consult with his attorneys in the success of the trial. The morning was spent in worship, the afternoon in the study of technicalities of the law. While keeping up his official residence at 2541 Racine avenue, See spends most of the time when he is not in court at the home of Mrs. Stephen Bridges in Wrightwood avenue, two blocks away. Mr. Bridges, meanwhile, occupies a room at the Palmer house and consults with the defense.

See Says "I Shall Win."

See expressed himself yesterday as feeling more confident than ever of the outcome of the trial.

"I shall win," he said. "Nothing can prevail against me and the cause I stand for. The world cannot understand its greatness! The world cannot appreciate the greatness which it promises. The eyes of the world are dimmed with wrong thinking. The world gazes not into its own consciousness, but into the consciousness of the thousand who have lived and died."

Mona Rees echoed something of the "prophet's" phrases.

"I have done my best," she said, "to explain the 'life' on the witness stand, and no one understood. I think, though, that they will understand before the trial is over, and that they will no longer accuse us of such things as they do now. Absolute life goes against none of the common ideas of morality. It only exposes hypocrisy—the virtue which is not virtue."

HASWISH: FAST RIDE TO GRAVE

Magnus Goodman Makes Death Bed Plea for Auto Funeral.

HATED "SLOW CARRIAGES."

Head of Tailoring Firm Was 61 Years at Time of Death.

"I want no horses at my funeral. I want nothing but big bright automobiles, and they can go as fast as the law permits for all I care," said Magnus Goodman, president of the Regal Tailoring company, early last week, while confined to the bed at St. Luke's hospital.

"The old style of taking the mourners on long trips to the cemetery in carriages pulled by fatigued horses never was to my liking. I want a beautiful funeral, and the only way to make it so is to have motor cars."

Given an Auto Funeral.

Last Friday Mr. Goodman died and yesterday was buried with an automobile funeral. There were fifteen big machines that carried the mourners and pall bearers, including a motor hearse. Every detail requested by Goodman was fulfilled, even to running the machines fast.

During his thirty years of active business life Mr. Goodman never owned an automobile, nor did he desire to own one, but had always spoken highly of automobiling. For the six weeks he had been sick at the hospital he had expressed his desire several times for an automobile funeral.

"A parade of automobiles is a beautiful sight," Mr. Goodman said shortly before his death.

Was a Tailor Thirty Years.

Magnus Goodman had been in the tailoring business for thirty years in Chicago. He was 61 years old and is survived by a widow and two children. He has two brothers, Marcus B. and Charles in other lines of business in the city. The body was taken from his late residence, 4533 Ellis avenue, to Rosehill cemetery. The last rites were performed by Dr. Schanfarber, rabbi of the temple at Thirty-third street and Indiana avenue.

GIRL SWIMS 2 1-2 MILES TO CRIB.

Daughter of Minister Decides to Make Trip While Bathing—Goes Distance Alone.

Miss Elsie Merbits, daughter of the Rev. F. Paul Merbits, pastor of St. Peter's German Lutheran church, won a place in the ranks of long distance swimmers yesterday. While bathing off the Seventy-third street beach, she decided to swim out to the Sixty-eighth street crib, a distance of two and a half miles. Unaccompanied she started out, plowed through the smooth waters, and arrived at the crib safe and sound. A rowboat brought her back to the beach. Miss Merbits is 21 years old. The family lives at 3931 Dearborn street.

GIRL DIES AFTER EXPLOSION

Mother, Also Burned by Gasoline, May Not Survive Hurts.

PLANNED FAMILY OUTING.

Cleaning Clothes in Inflammable Liquid Causes Blast.

Yesterday morning a little family of four—father, mother, son and daughter, sat down at a table in their home and gayly discussed plans for a summer vacation trip on which they were to start today. Last night there remained only the father and son, and they were mourning their dead.

The name of the father is James Mullen. He was once a chauffeur for former Mayor Busse, and is now a foreman for the Busse Coal company. He resides at 1448 Orleans street. Following breakfast yesterday, he, his wife, their daughter, Marguerite, 10 years old, and their son, 8, laughed and chatted over the anticipated fun they were to have at South Haven. They were to have started for a summer resort there today and to have remained during the week.

The boat ride across Lake Michigan, the pleasure of bathing in the breakers, little picnics and walks through the woods, and, of course, just how much the trip would cost—everything was planned in detail and enjoyed over and over again in anticipation.

Drops Match Into Pan.

"But we ought to get things ready right away," said the mother, arising from the table. "Come, Marguerite, help mother clean some of the clothes. Let's see, we'll begin with father's things."

Accordingly, mother and daughter went to the kitchen, taking with them one of Mullen's suits of clothing. They laid the suit near the stove and began to clean it with gasoline, obtaining the fluid from an open pan on the table.

The father went out on an errand, and a few minutes later James Jr. heard a loud explosion in the kitchen, followed by screams from his mother and sister. He rushed, panic stricken, to their aid, to find the kitchen in flames, the windows shattered, and mother and daughter lying on the floor, their clothing on fire. Marguerite had accidentally dropped a match into the gasoline pan.

Negro Proves Hero.

The boy rushed screaming into the street. An unidentified negro was the first one to reach the kitchen, and with the aid of neighbors who arrived soon after he finally succeeded in beating out the flames.

Mrs. Mullen and Marguerite were taken unconscious to the German hospital. Marguerite died at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and her mother lived only four hours longer.

Falls from Car; Cuts Head.

Harry Fox, a 12-year-old boy living at Union and O'Brien streets, suffered a severe scalp wound yesterday when he attempted to alight from a west bound Twelfth street car while it was crossing Halsted street. He was taken unconscious to the County hospital, where he later revived.

POLICE WAR ON PICKPOCKETS

Inspector Hunt Starts Crusade to Circumvent 'Meanest Thieves.'

12 NOW UNDER ARREST.

Head of Detective Bureau Sounds Note of Warning to Women.

"Beware of the gentlemanly stranger who steps aside or actually assists you in boarding a street car."

The suburbs, especially the picnic grounds, are honeycombed with the light fingered gentry, and though the police have no right to interfere with them beyond the city limits, the plan has been adopted of watching transfer points and arresting every pickpocket known.

Comprise Notorious Band.

Yesterday's harvest brought in Oscar Jacobson, alias Johnny Thompson, alias Eddie Jackson, who was recently paroled from Joliet. Jack McNichols, just about as adept at the business, was next in line. Then came James Leonard, George Vogel, Ben Lewis, Frank, alias "Chicken," Burke, George Bowman, Eddie Mack, Harry Schaefer, Alfred Wagner, Leslie Filltreau, and Howard Fox.

This is one of the most troublesome sets of criminals known. They are said to have a trust, and a lawyer who is retained by the year. They have professional bondsmen in their employ, and have more ways of beating successful prosecution, the police say, than all the other sorts of criminals put together.

Inspector Warns Women.

"Women with bundles or carrying babies are the particular prey of the last crop of pickpockets," continued the inspector. "As you notice, all these 'dips' make good appearances. Well, they spot a woman with her arms full, and her handbag hung on her arm. They doff their hats and help the woman on. Well, while they are pressing up under the arm that holds the handbag they open it, extract the purse, again lift their hats and are gone.

Owner of Oil Well Offers $500 Reward Through Medium of "Tribune" Columns.

Five hundred dollars reward has been offered through the "personal" columns of THE TRIBUNE for the firebugs who burned the Wentworth oil well tower and boiler house at Rose Lawn, Ind., on June 23.

G. K. Wentworth, owner of the property, has had private and city detectives investigating the fire, but so far their efforts have been fruitless and so he has decided to enlist TRIBUNE readers in the search.

"The damage was only $3,000," said Mr. Wentworth, who has offices at 206 La Salle street, "but I think the fire was caused by a gang of rowdies who hang out at the Monon station in Rose Lawn. I will cheerfully pay $500 more to bring them to justice and prevent further depredations."

BRIBERS SEEK ENRIGHT JURY?

Wayman and Hunt Get Hints of Plot to Free Slugger.

ASK LIST OF VENIREMEN.

Supposed Members of Thug Gang Approach County's Men.

With the trial of Maurice (Mossy) Enright, accused of the murder of Vincent Altman, rival labor slugger, a week away, State's Attorney Wayman and Inspector Nicholas Hunt already have found the trail of jury bribers who are expected to be active in behalf of the slugger chief.

Although the names of the veniremen who will be drawn for examination as jurors in the case are still safe in the jury commissioners' great box, the jury bribers are at work, it is declared. Their activity so far has been in the direction of learning what part of the city directory is being used from which to take names for the jury box. The names for the jury box are taken from the directory in the commissioners' office.

Several persons, who are in close touch with employés of the jury commissioners' office, have been approached, it is said, and asked to get the desired information. Should they be successful, the would-be bribers could get a good line on the men from whom the jury will be drawn.

Wayman and Hunt Reticent.

The prosecutor and the police inspector were not inclined to discuss the jury bribing proposition.

"I'll say that we are keeping a close watch," Mr. Wayman said, "and I'll say further that any man who tries jury bribing in this case is going to take an awful chance, for he'll get caught. As to what we have already learned, that now is a subject of investigation."

"I will only say that it is a fact that information has reached us to the effect that men are trying to learn what directory names are being copied for the jury box," Inspector Hunt said.

The jury bribing "tip" is believed to have reached the officials during their investigation and discovery of several witnesses, who are declared to have been "fixed" to testify for Enright at the coming trial. It was stated yesterday that positive information had been received that half a dozen witnesses had been discovered who are prepared to perjure themselves to free the chief of the "pirate slugger car."

New Witnesses Found.

An attaché of the state's attorney's office said that the state had found new witnesses within twenty-four hours who would discredit some of these "fixed" testifiers if they appear on the witness stand on behalf of Enright.

"The long time that has elapsed since the murder of Altman and the tendency of some of these fellows to talk some time ago when they thought there would never be any prosecution has put some of them in bad," he said. "They can't well tell one story on the witness stand and then be confronted by witnesses who have heard them tell entirely different tales of the happenings at the Briggs house bar on the day Altman was shot to death."

A new development in the police investigation of the murder of William (Dutchy) Gentleman makes it almost certain that Enright will be indicted for the murder of his former pal when the grand jury convenes next week. A new witness has been found who controverts the statement of Enright that he alone shot Gentleman and that he fired in self-defense.

Says Gentleman Was Ambushed.

According to the police the new witness, whose name is being kept secret, tells the story of the shooting something like this:

"Gentleman had no more than entered 'Pat' O'Malley's saloon when Enright and several others opened up a fusillade of shots at him. Gentleman staggered and made several attempts to reach his revolver. He finally got it and fired wildly at the men who were shooting at him."

"Gentleman never had a chance for his life."

THEATER MUSICIANS WANT THEIR WAGES INCREASED.

Players in Chicago Orchestras to Demand from 20 to 50 Per Cent Raise in Salaries.

An increase of from 20 to 50 per cent in wages is to be demanded of managers of theaters by the Chicago Federation of Musicians today. The boost is to be asked according to the class of the theater in which the musicians are engaged. The union will also demand the right to fix the size of the orchestra.

All theaters outside of the first class, "legitimate" houses, will be affected by the new scale, which, according to the projected demand, will vary from $2 a week in the 10 cent theaters to $7 a week in the first class vaudeville houses. Orchestra leaders in vaudeville houses will ask a raise of $20 a week, making $60 a week the minimum scale.

The "legitimate" theaters are not to be allowed to escape the demand entirely, however, for, while no salary raise will be asked, the union wants to increase the size of the orchestras.

BATHROBE BURGLAR? LOST.

A. De Forrest Pitney Scares Clarendon Avenue Residents by Darting About in Light Attire.

A man in a bathrobe, hovering about Clarendon avenue, threw the residents of that neighborhood into unusual excitement for more than half an hour yesterday afternoon.

The bathrobed, barefoot individual was seen to timidly approach the back doors of building after building, then excitedly dart away. Some one called a policeman. He took both man and robe into custody.

Explanations revealed the man as A. B. Pitney, 6127 Woodlawn avenue. Leaving his clothes in the flat of a friend, Harold M. Smith, at 4538 Clarendon avenue, he had gone swimming at Clarendon beach. Returning alone later he had been unable to locate the Smith back door. The policeman found the flat.

LIGHTNING CURES A PARALYTIC.

Shock from Bolt Said to Have Restored Use of His Limbs to Fargo, N. D., Doctor.

Fargo, N. D., July 2.—[Special.]—One of the most remarkable nature cures ever recorded occurred last Saturday during the electric storm which struck this city when Dr. C. H. Geary was suddenly cured of paralysis by a bolt of lightning.

Dr. Geary was stricken with paralysis some time ago, and it was thought his affliction was permanent. Last Sunday evening during an electric storm a terrific bolt of lightning struck near his residence, shocking Dr. Geary severely. Immediately afterward he found he had recovered complete control of his limbs.

Since the shock Dr. Geary has been as active as he was before he was paralyzed. He believes firmly that the lightning cured him.

USE DYNAMITE AS REPLY TO ARRESTS

Bomb Throwers in Pirate Auto Pange Washington Blvd. Into Darkness

SOUND NOTE OF DEFIANCE

Shoot Conduit After Capture of Two Electricians Charged with Prior Explosions.

While detectives were looking for a dozen men in connection with the Commonwealth Edison company bomb war, another explosion late last night wrecked a conduit at West Fulton and Clinton streets, and shattered scores of windows in buildings within a radius of several blocks. The bomb was touched off just a few hours after the arrest of two of the men for whom the police have been looking for weeks, and created a feeling of uneasiness in the detective bureau "bomb squad."

It is believed that when word reached the bomb throwers that Harry Messinger and William Hicks were captured by Detectives Shea and Lynch of the Warren avenue station yesterday it was decided by their companions to hand the company another "jolt" as well as "show up the efficiency of the police department."

Dynamiters Use Motor Car.

Shortly before midnight two men drove up to the conduit in an automobile and left an ignited dynamite charge just over the manhole cover. With a roar that was heard for blocks and that brought detectives and policemen from the Desplaines street station to the scene, the blast shook many buildings.

When Lieut. Michael Madden and several detectives arrived no trace of the men was obtained, but a slight description of them was secured from Hans Carlson, a night watchman in one of the nearby buildings.

The men evidently waited until the policeman traveling that beat had passed, for Detectives Keough and O'Brien were standing at West Randolph and Clinton streets when the explosion occurred. Both ran to the scene, but it is thought that the men drove west through an alley, their escape being made easy because of the darkness into which the streets had been plunged.

Inspector Charles Dorman was notified of the affair, and Acting Assistant Chief Hunt directed that a city wide search for the men be made.

Lights Extinguished on Boulevard.

Electric lights along Washington boulevard were blown out as far west as Paulina street, and lights in many other near west side streets were put out of commission.

Messinger is 38 years old and was in his room at the Revere house when the detectives arrested him. Hicks is about 45 years old, and was caught at his residence, 4319 West Adams street. Twelve warrants were taken out before Municipal Judge Martin last Friday, and it is expected that more arrests will be made today. Both men were charged with malicious mischief.

Messinger is a line repairman employed by the Western Union Telegraph company, and Hicks was working for the Automatic Telephone company until a short time ago. Both, according to the police, have been employed by the Commonwealth Edison company, and deny that they have had anything to do with the explosions.

ARRESTED ON GIRLS' CHARGE.

Italian Barber Alleged to Have Urged Young Women to Enter Disorderly House.

Tony Canene, a barber employed at 445 Chicago avenue, was arrested yesterday on a charge of having tried to induce two girls to become inmates of a disorderly house in Milwaukee. The girls are Theresa Birnetti, 21 years old, of Melrose Park, Ill., and Eva Moyer, 19 years old, of Grant Park, Ill. Canene met the young women in Streeter, Ill., and is said to have enticed them to Chicago with promises that he would get them employment.

ELECTION BOARD MUST FACE COURT

Defeated Bidders Plan Suits in Connection with Voting Machine Deal.

EXPERTS ALSO ATTACKED

Will Be Asked to Prove That They Reported Fairly in Favor of Empire Firm.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

[Late Deputy Commissioner of Public Works.]

Trouble is planned for both the election commissioners and their mechanical experts by the three voting machine companies who lost in the competition for the board's order for 1,000 voting devices. The three losers, the Winslow, International, and Triumph Voting Machine companies, intend to start court proceedings to prevent the board from awarding the contract to the Empire company. This will probably be filed Wednesday morning in the Circuit court.

At the same time, or a little later, the trio are planning to file a suit for libel against the three experts employed by County Judge Owens to investigate the merits of the machines. These specialists are Paul M. Chamberlain, W. L. Abbott, and William Wooley.

It is charged by the trio which failed to get the contract that the experts made not only inaccurate and misleading but untrue statements. In addition, they charge that the experts in some instances failed to examine the blue prints and printed information in their hands regarding the devices and their parts.

Do Not Want Cash Damages.

None of the machine men is anxious to obtain any money damages from the experts. The purpose of the contemplated suit is to get a hearing where there will be a permanent record of the proceedings. They were denied a hearing by the election commissioners before the purchase was decided upon.

"We waited from the middle of March to last Friday for a hearing by the election commissioners," said Robert Petrie, president of the International company, yesterday. "We were barred out of the room and the board declined to take the information which every machine man was waiting anxiously to give. We will present that information to a court, so that the commissioners can read our side at their leisure.

"The report of the experts employed by the County court is nothing but a joke in some respects. They have made a statement in their report regarding our machine, which is exactly the opposite of the truth. They emphasized minor defects in our machine and minimized glaring defects in the Empire machine.

"Here is a statement every one can understand. The weight of the Winslow machine is 1,260 pounds and the weight of the Empire is given at 1,190 pounds. The experts say that the Empire is easy to handle while the Winslow is altogether too heavy. Seventy pounds makes one light and the other heavy.

Says Empire Is Heavier.

"As a matter of fact it will require the handling of about twenty tons of weight a year to use the Empire and less than nine tons to use the Winslow. That is because the Empire must be taken apart and put in a box. It requires more handling than the Winslow."

L. R. Winslow also made some severe criticisms of the experts.

"Part of the experts' reports show such an enormous lack of information as to be humorous, while other parts are ridiculous," he said. "They say all four of the machines pass the requirements of the state law. Then they say that a man can scarcely vote inside of a minute on the Empire machine. If the voter canot vote within a minute the machine does not comply with the state law.

"The experts assert that the Triumph can be manipulated with a rubber band so that it will give a false registration. A machine that will give a false registration does not comply with the state law. A rubber band can be used to manipulate the keys of the Empire. It has been done in the machine examined by the experts, yet these eminent specialists failed to mention that fact in their report.

Calls Report Worthless.

"They pointed out minor defects in my machine. These can be remedied, but until they are remedied the machine does not comply with the state law.

"The utter worthlessness of the report is shown by the absence of any reference to the primary mechanism of the machines. It can be proved that the election commissioners cannot legally purchase the Empire machine, but we were denied a chance to show anything.

A former voting machine manufacturer has arrived in Chicago and it is said that he is willing to tell something of the business methods used by the Empire company. He does not pretend to have any information regarding the Chicago deal, but he is said to have something to say about the way the Empire company has obtained business in other places.

O'Brien Strangely Deaf.

Cook's report of the conversation Hines had from his room with Springfield has been denied by Hines and by Miss Carroll. William O'Brien, who was present, stated he did not hear it because of deafness. But when O'Brien's hearing was tested he had no difficulty in catching and answerwing questions put to him in a low tone of voice. O'Brien did confirm Cook's testimony that Christian F. Wiehe, Hines' brother-in-law, brought a message from Hines at midnight asking the two visitors to leave town immediately to escape a subpœna from the grand jury, which at the time was considering the indictment of Lee O'Neil Browne for bribery.

In brief, it has been established up to date by Hines' own admissions as well as by other testimony that Hines:

Was actively interested in the candidacy of Mr. Lorimer for United States senator.

That Hines did talk with Funk at the Union League club immediately after Lorimer's election.

That Hines did telephone from Cook's room to Springfield.

That Hines did send his brother-in-law to Cook to urge him to leave town.

Having established these facts, it will be for the committee now to determine whether Hines used the incriminating language attributed to him or whether he, too, is a victim of a "conspiracy."

WOULD SHOOT BRIBERS.

Galesburg, Ill., July 2.—[Special.]—"Men who bribe legislators should be shot; would not Washington have shot them?"

This declaration was made to a large congregation by the Rev. Mr. Lloyd tonight at an outdoor patriotic service. He declared there are dangers in these days like those preceding the civil war. There are men at heart traitors. There are men who win their elections by wrongful means. These, asserted the minister, are thought of as skillful politicians.

"No doubt there are men in the Illinois legislature who can be bribed," he said. "The same is true of the Ohio legislature. The bribers should be shot."

LORIMER BACK IN CHICAGO.

Senator Lorimer and his counsel, Elbridge Haney, arrived in Chicago yesterday from Washington. Mr. Haney was asked what witnesses other than those already subpœnaed by the committee would be called on behalf of Senator Lorimer.

"We don't know yet what witnesses will be called by the committee," he said. "We have been furnished with one list, but there may be others the committee will desire to call. There are not many remaining to be heard whose names were on the original list, and some whose names appeared have been excused by the committee."

FOSS PLEADS FOR REFORM IN HANDLING OF CRIMINALS.

Governor of Massachusetts Says He Wants to Give Chance to Correct, Not Punish, Delinquents.

Boston, Mass., July 2.—[Special.]—"I have pardoned thirty-five prisoners in my six months of office, nearly as many as my predecessor did in his entire last year as governor. I did this because I believe that Massachusetts should take the initiative in instituting a new, modernized, and scientific system of dealing with delinquents. I want to see the old Bay State the first to adopt a system which will correct, not punish, which will be based on the sense of honor inborn in most men, which will hold out to every delinquent the shining light of hope."

This is Gov. Foss' statement, and he adds:

"Our present system of caring for criminals is wholly inadequate. It is obsolete. It is founded on mistaken principles. It is an acknowledged failure."

U. S. MAY ABOLISH EXPRESS FIRMS

Inquiry Likely to Result in That or Measures to Curb Trust.

CUT IN RATES CERTAIN.

Government May Take Over Business or Bar Companies from Railways.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 2.—[Special.]—That the forthcoming investigation of express companies ordered yesterday by the interstate commerce commission will result in an unprecedented reduction of transportation rates is regarded here as a foregone conclusion. But, while a reduction of the notoriously exorbitant rates charged by the express companies appears certain, there are other and more far reaching results within the possibilities.

Upon the findings of the interstate commerce commission as to the operations of the express trust congress may legislate to accomplish any one or more of the following reforms:

Abolishment of the express companies, with the requirement that the business be carried on by the railroads at rates approved by the commerce commission.

Restriction of express companies to transportation other than railway.

Assumption of all express business by the government, the present companies selling their equipment and rights at an agreed valuation.

Prohibition of express companies carrying mailable matter, thus restoring the postal monopoly to the government.

Companies Realize Situation.

The prospect is anything but pleasing to the interests controlling the express companies and the indications are that they realize the situation and its possibilities.

A representative of the express trust who was in the capital a few days ago let slip a remark that disclosed knowledge of the impending order for an investigation. It appears that a preliminary inquiry has been conducted by Commissioner Franklin K. Lane, to whom was assigned the hearing of a number of express rate complaints, including that of Bert E. Sundberg, who filed charges against all the companies to the effect that all their rates are "unjust, unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential and prejudicial, and otherwise in violation of the act to regulate interstate commerce."

Commissioner Lane wrote a report as the result of his preliminary inquiry and submitted it to the commission. The conditions disclosed in the report caused the commission to order a full investigation without further discussion. That was done two weeks ago.

Tried to Forestall Inquiry.

In some way the express interests heard of the Lane report and decided to forestall the investigation by filing schedules of reduced tariffs. They succeeded in getting in their new rates the day before the formal order for the investigation was issued. The reductions made, however, are trifling and the commission anounced that the inquiry would proceed.

It was stated that as the commission is swamped with railway cases at present the express hearing will not begin till next fall.

The result of the investigation will be eagerly awaited by congress, where half a hundred bills to abolish or regulate express companies are pending.

LABOR SCORES PENNY POSTAGE

'Big Interests' Only Beneficiaries, Says Chicago Federation.

MAIL EMPLOYES COMPLAIN.

Insist Hitchcock's Economy Makes Them Toil Longer.

Declaring that the project to inaugurate "penny postage" is the scheme of "big business interests," the Chicago Federation of Labor yesterday adopted a resolution denouncing it.

The present economical administration of Postmaster General Hitchcock has required thousands of postal clerks to work many extra hours without pay, the resolution said, and also has required letter carriers to "double up" on districts, with the result of poor service in mail deliveries.

Point to Reduction in Pay.

The federation also deplores the recently revealed fact that no economy has been effected in the compensation paid to railroads for transportation of mails. The resolution was introduced by Oscar F. Nelson, head of the Postoffice Employés' union in Chicago.

"The latest injustice to postal clerks was done Saturday," he said. "A number of the oldest employés were told that their salaries had been reduced. Some of the salaries were cut $100 and others $200 a year. This arbitrary reduction was made without affording the clerks a hearing or an opportunity to defend their records as faithful employés, entitled to the pay they are receiving."

Clerks Have Been Organizing.

Postmaster General Hitchcock is now actively coöperating with a so-called "penny postal league," which is composed of mail order business men, who will be the principal beneficiaries of "one cent" postage anould the proposition be established.

For the last year a secret organization among railway postal clerks has been going on. It is said that 1,300 clerks running out of Chicago have joined the union, and that it will be prepared to assert itself before the first of next year.

GOMPERS STOPS IN CHICAGO ON WAY TO AID M'NAMARAS.

President of American Federation of Labor Will Speak Tomorrow at St. Louis on Behalf of Accused Men.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, passed through Chicago yesterday on his way to St. Louis, where he will speak tomorrow at a labor protest meeting against the kidnaping of the McNamara brothers.

Mr. Gompers spent most of the day at the Kaiserhof hotel. He did not attend the meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

"The unlawful kidnaping of the McNamara brothers was one of the boldest outrages ever perpetrated against union labor," he said. "Those men are innocent, and the American Federation of Labor stands behind their defense. They will be vindicated and their abductors brought to justice."

Negroes Steal $80 After One of Them Wounds Proprietor of Delicatessen Store.

George Duncan, 1413 East Fifty-eighth street, was shot in the mouth by one of two negroes who held him up in his delicatessen shop Saturday night. They escaped with between $80 and $90. Duncan was taken to the Washington Park hospital. After an operation yesterday he was removed to his home.

Why Should There Be "Cooking Butter?"

Many a housewife uses "cooking butter" in preparing home-made foods, when if the same "butter" were placed on the table to be spread on the slices cut from her big brown loaves, the family would rise in protest. Why should one grade of "butter" be eaten on bread, and another grade used in cooking? There is only one grade of health, and but one quality of butter fit for food—the best.

Meadow-Gold

Butter is of only one grade—healthful, clean and pure; and the very top notch of quality and flavor. It is made from Pasteurized cream in sanitary, spotless creameries, and packed in dust-proof, air-tight cartons, without human contact. Meadow Gold for cooking in the average family would not increase the monthly butter bill above a half-dollar—and the result is worth it in healthful, more palatable food. Try it. Sold in regular and 25c sizes.

If you like "sweet" butter you'll enjoy unsalted Meadow Gold Butter.

Try a package of Meadow Gold Fancy Fresh Eggs—you will like them, too.

EUGENE F. WARE 'IRON QUILL,' DEAD

Former Federal Commissioner of Pensions Victim of Sudden Illness.

GAINED FAME AS POET.

Soldier and Statesman, He Also Was Well Known as Gifted Humorist.

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 2.—[Special.]—Eugene F. Ware, United States pension commissioner under Roosevelt and one of the most prominent lawyers of the west, died suddenly from heart disease last night at Cascade, a summer resort near here. He recently had arrived from his home at Cherokee, Kas. He was 70 years old.

He seemed to be in his usual health this morning when he retired to his cottage, the "Never Mind," in Cascade cañon, about 11 o'clock and started to undress. Without a warning he fell backwards on the bed and died five minutes later.

Mr. Ware's greatest fame came to him under the name of "Ironquill." It was under this pen name that he published "The Washerwoman's Song" and many other poems. It was not only as a poet that he was known. He was author of many books on law and also translated and edited many ancient legal books. His history of Iowa's troops in the civil war is accepted as authoritative.

Mr. Ware considered his poetry writing as a pleasure and although several of his books of verse went into several editions he refused to accept the profits on them, giving the proceeds to some worthy cause.

Besides being a poet, Mr. Ware was noted as a soldier, lawyer and political leader.

Born in Hartford, Conn.

Eugene F. Ware was born at Hartford, Conn., on May 29, 1841. He was the son of Hiram B. and Amanda M. Ware. He was a lineal descendant of Robert Ware, one of the early settlers of Massachusetts. He was educated at the public schools of Hartford, and when young removed with his parents to Burlington, Ia., there continuing his education in the public schools.

At the outbreak of the civil war in 1861 he enlisted in the First Iowa Volunteer infantry, April 13, the same day Fort Sumter was fired on. He served throughout the entire war and was mustered out of service on June 1, 1866, with the rank of captain of cavalry, being at the time an aid-de-camp of Maj. Gen. G. M. Dodge, theretofore one of Gen. Sherman's corps commanders.

Mr. Ware removed to Fort Scott, Kas., in 1867, studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1871. He was a member of the state senate of Kansas two terms, was commissioner for Kansas at the celebration of the Yorktown centennial, and commissioner at large to the Washington centennial in New York City.

He was appointed federal commissioner of pensions in 1902.

Objected to Public Praise.

The humor which showed in all of Mr. Ware's writing also was present in his daily life. An instance of this is shown in a letter which he sent to a Topeka paper which was sounding his praises when he was appointed commissioner. This letters reads:

"Will you kindly omit in your paper all further allusions to me? I am being overpraised. In a little while, by the law of compensation, I will be overblamed. Glorification notices will nauseate my friends and provoke my enemies.

"If I should be confirmed and then accept, and should enter upon my duites as commissioner of pensions, I will be handicapped by these contending emotions.

"And when, at last, my exterior shall decorate the fence, as it certainly must in time, my friends will have no incentive to weep and my enemies will have no restraint upon their levity. Therefore, please don't give them any more."

"Ironquill" and His Most Famous Poem.

THE WASHERWOMAN'S SONG.

In a very humble cot,
In a rather quiet spot,
In the suds and in the soap,
Worked a woman full of hope;
Working, singing, all alone,
In a sort of undertone:
"With the Savior for a friend,
He will keep me to the end."

Sometimes happening along,
I had heard the semi-song,
And I often used to smile,
More in sympathy than guile;
But I never said a word
In regard to what I heard,
As she sang about her friend
Who would keep her to the end.

Not in sorrow nor in glee
Working all day long was she,
As her children, three or four,
Played around her on the floor;
But in monotones the song
She was humming all day long:
"With the Savior for a friend,
He will keep me to the end."

It's a song I do not sing,
For I scarce believe a thing
Of the stories that are told
Of the miracles of old;
But I know that her belief
Is the anodyne of grief,
And will always be a friend
That will keep her to the end.

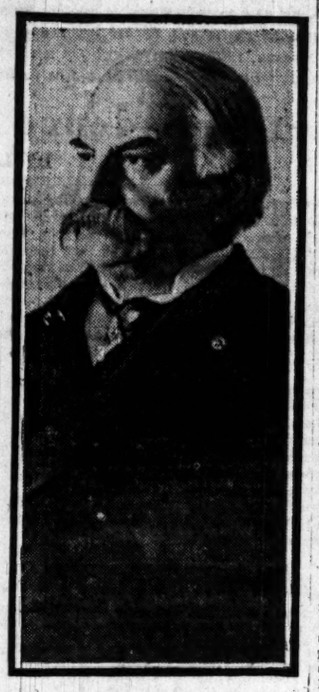

Just a trifle lonesome she,
Just as poor as poor could be;
But her spirits always rose,
Like the bubbles in the clothes,
And, though widowed and alone,
Cheered her with the monotone
Of a Savior and a friend
Who would keep her to the end.

I have seen her rub and scrub,
On the washboard in the tub,
While the baby, sopped in suds,
Rolled and tumbled in the duds,
Or was paddling in the pools,
With old scissors stuck in spools:
She still humming of her friend
Who would keep her to the end.

Human hopes and human creeds
Have their root in human needs;
And I should not wish to strip
From that washerwoman's lip
Any song that she can sing,
Any hope that songs can bring;
For the woman has a friend
Who will keep her to the end.

PORTUGAL FEARS REBEL ADVANCE

Government Calls on People to Oppose Attack by Friends of Monarchy.

MANY TROOPS ON BORDER.

Madrid Newspapers Hear That Severe Battle Has Occurred at Oporto.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LISBON, July 2.—The government has, in a proclamation, appealed to the patriotism of the country to defend the republic in a conflict with the monarchists, which is imminent. Many royalists are in the Traz-Os-Montes province.

The reserves of the first army division have been called to the colors and an added number of troops has been sent to the frontier. The total number now there is 47,000.

Rebels Number Several Thousand.

The monarchist leader, Capt. Conceiro, is in command of several thousand men. He has armored automobiles and many arms. Capt. Conceiro has circulated an appeal to the republican troops and hopes that some of them will join the monarchist forces.

According to the Paiz the government aims to draw the royalists to Busaco and there surround and annihilate them.

Battle at Oporto Reported.

MADRID, July 2.—Newspapers here have received reports of a severe battle today in the neighborhood of Oporto in which twenty-seven republicans were killed. It is supposed that the battle is the outcome of an attempt to begin a monarchical counter revolution. The government has no information on the subject.

LINER EMPRESS OF BRITAIN SETS SAIL FROM LIVERPOOL.

Canadian Premier and Troops Aboard Vessel—Other Steamers Tied Up by Seamen's Strike.

LIVERPOOL, July 2.—The liner Empress of Britain, with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada, and the Canadian coronation troops aboard, sailed from here tonight.

The report that the Cunarder Carmania sailed yesterday proved to be incorrect. The Carmania was not able to get together a crew because of the strike, but may succeed in doing so tonight. The American liner St. Louis, which sailed yesterday from here, will call at Queenstown to take the Carmania's mail.

Two incendiary fires were discovered today in the state rooms of the steamship Canada of the British and North Atlantic Steam Navigation company, which runs to Montreal. The flames were extinguished without damage.

EDWIN A. ABBEY IMPROVING.

Condition of American Artist Who Was Operated On Last Friday Satisfactory to His Physicians.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 2.—Edwin A. Abbey, R. A., is resting well since the operation performed upon him last Friday, and it is expected he will be able to go to the country within two or three weeks. The operation was performed by Dr. B. G. A. Moynihan, professor of clinical surgery at the University of Leeds, assisted by Dr. Donald Armour of London and Dr. William W. White of Philadelphia. Sir William Osler was brought into consultation.

LOOKS FOR WARMER WINTERS

Maj. Marriott Points Out Ice Is Retreating in Polar Regions.

CHANGE IN AXIS THE CAUSE.

British Scientist Believes Obliquity of the Earth Diminishing.

LONDON, July 2.—"Why We May Expect Warmer Winters" is the comforting title of a pamphlet published by Major R. A. Marriott.

"Capt. Scott," writes Major Marriott, "on his return from the Antarctic expedition, emphasized the rapidity with which the South Polar ice was retreating. It is a well known fact that in the northern regions a similar condition of things is taking place.

Change in Canada.

"In Canada certain lands bordering on the north have been hitherto reported too ice-bound for agricultural operations, but large tracts have now been found to present favorable climatic conditions owing to some change that has taken place.

"Iceland now belies its name, for in mid-December, 1910, there was no snow and scarcely any frost."

Major Marriott suggests that the change is due to the diminishing obliquity of the earth's axis.

Diagrams of Variations.

In two diagrams he depicts the world at different stages of its history, first in the year 1354 B. C., when the globe swung at an inclination of 35 degrees. The polar regions then occupied a far greater extent than they do today, and the glacial epoch was reigning over the earth. The other diagram shows the present obliquity of 23 degrees, with the polar regions considerably shrunken.

"The year 2295, A. D.," continues Major Marriott, "marks the apex of the genial period, when the contrast between summer and winter will be least. This year is only 385 years ahead of us, and we might reasonably expect each century of approach to show some slight modification of climate."

STAND PAT IN VETO FIGHT

Both Lords and Commons Refuse to Change Positions.

MAY FORCE ELECTIONS.

English People Take Little Interest in Political Crisis.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 2.—With the coronation week over, the house of lords was the first body to turn to the serious work of considering the parliament bill. One week has been enough to show how matters stand. It is to be seen, that they are much the same as they were before the adjournment. The government does not show a sign of accepting any of Lansdowne's amendments, and neither the government nor the opposition shows any signs of willingness to compromise.

Again, there is talk of another appeal to the country for a dissolution of parliament in July and a general election in August. Probably no step could be more unpopular with the country itself, but if the lords refuse to swallow the bill and the government, under the stress of its dictators, stands firm, no other course seems open unless it takes the step from which it naturally shrinks—that is, the creating of 500 new peers to swamp the present house of lords.

Sees Hope for Unionists.

Some of the Unionist papers, such as the Times, profess to believe that there is a great change of opinion with regard to Unionist prospects at the next election, but the more general opinion is that another election will strengthen the government in the house of commons.

Taking this view, the Spectator pleads for the opposition to swallow the bill, and declares that "pressure of Radical opinion outside holds the government and its allies in so tight a grip that there is not the slightest chance of penetrating the phalanx, but the moment that the parliament bill passes the pressure will be relaxed. What is now an unbroken line will become one of the gaps and breaks through which the Unionist attack can get home."

Interest of People Small.

But the English people do not seem to realize that they face a political situation of the first magnitude. Popular opinion still seems unstirred and not even the closing paragraph of the king's letter to the people has been appreciated in its full significance.

NAT GOODWIN BLAMES PUPPY

Actor Tells Dog Story in Denying Report of Fifth Marriage.

JAP MIXES UP SITUATION.

Edna Goodrich in Paris Served with Notice of Suit.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 2.—[Special.]—Terms of endearment applied to a brindle pup made trouble for Nat Goodwin. The comedian was discussing the dog with his father, who is visiting him at Santa Monica.

"You think she is as good looking as others?" the elder Goodwin asked.

"Yes, and better dispositioned," said Nat. "She's younger, more affectionate, more intelligent—in fact, a gem."

"Take her, then, Nat," said the father; "that's my advice."

Jap Complicates Situation.

This conversation became known and reporters besieged the Goodwin residence. A polite Japanese opened the door.

"Is Mr. Goodwin in?" he was asked.

"I think so," the oriental replied.

Soon Nat appeared. Asked to verify rumors of a fifth marriage, he said: "I would if I could, but I haven't had the pleasure of being married more than four times. My father and I were merely discussing a brindle pup. I am sending it back to the folks. That's all—positively all. The Jap didn't want to hurt your feelings by denying I had a new wife.

"I'm giving too much time to writing experiences with former wives to find another now."

EDNA GOODRICH GLOOMED.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, July 2.—Edna Goodrich, who was Mrs. Nat Goodwin, is here with her mother. She had her enjoyment gloomed today by the receipt of a summons and complaint in an action brought in the Superior court of Los Angeles against herself and Thomas Dudley, trustee under an ante-nuptial agreement made in 1908.

The suit is brought by Goodwin, who is seeking annulment of the agreement and the recovery of the real estate and buildings thereon at San Francisco and Ocean Beach, Cal. Goodwin also seeks the surrender of securities delivered to Dudley and Miss Goodrich.

PLAN TO BUY UP PALESTINE PIECEMEAL FOR THE JEWS.

Proposal to Purchase 100,000 Acres a Year Laid Before Convention of Federation of American Zionists.

Tannersville, N. Y., July 2.—To buy 100,000 acres of land annually in Palestine in order to establish colonies of Jews was the principal proposition placed before the fourteenth annual convention of the Federation of American Zionists. This proposition was made by the national fund commission.

The commission reported that in addition to the thirty-eight agricultural colonies established in Palestine through the efforts of Zionists a residential suburb for artisans had been established close to Jaffa.

It was recognized today that the policy of the Young Turk party, aiming toward the nationalization of the Turkish empire and in opposition to the autonomy of the various nationalities within the empire, was bound to delay the realization of the Zionists' purpose to secure a home for the Jews in Palestine and that the movement would have a better immediate prospect for regaining the Jewish national soil if the opposition should triumph.

TAFT ON WEST BOUND TRAIN WORKS HARD UPON SPEECHES.

Reciprocity, Arbitration, Currency Reform, and Peace Will Be Discussed by the President.

Albany, N. Y., July 2.—President Taft, en route to Marion and Indianapolis, Ind., passed through Albany at 8 o'clock tonight. The president left the summer White House at Beverly, Mass., shortly after noon and Boston at 2 o'clock.

Although the day was unusually warm, the president spent most of the time on the way to Albany preparing the speeches he will deliver in Indiana tomorrow and Tuesday.

According to his present plan, the president will speak on peace and arbitration at the soldiers' home in Marion, and his address that night to the bankers and editors will deal largely with the Aldrich currency plan. Reciprocity will be his subject at the Marion club dinner in Indianapols the night of the Fourth.

POKER LEGAL WITHOUT KITTY.

Philadelphia Judge Declines to Fine Six Players Arrested in a Private House.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 2.—[Special.]—Judge Scott today ruled that poker playing is absolutely legal if there is no "kitty" to the game. The ruling was made at a hearing of six defendants who the police had arrested by invading a private house. The police declared the men were playing for money, but Judge Scott said he didn't give a rap for that, as they had a right to do so.

Restaurant Cook Suffers Burns.

Margaret Fermit, 1131 South Clinton street, was painfully burned on the left arm yesterday while working in Lee Morton's restaurant, 333 South La Salle street. She was taken to her home in a police ambulance of the Harrison street station.

Man "In"sures His Life But "As"sures His Future

For himself alone it may (but probably will not) be more important that man "in"sure his life than "as"sure his future.

For his dependents man should do both ("in"sure and "as"sure).

That man who fails to "as"sure, in all probability, will neglect to "in"sure; and if "in"sured in all probability will eventually not be able to pay the premiums required to maintain his insurance.

Life "as"surance may best be acquired through the utilities afforded by SAVINGS BANKS for the promotion of systematic thrift.

Americans Lose Prestige in London.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 2.—Frederick Townsend Martin, talking on the social conditions of the London season, says there is a strong contrast with the past seasons. The present season is distinguished by the extinguishing of Americans as a factor in society. American hostesses are quieter and are entertaining in a less conspicuous manner, and there seems to be a lack of cohesion among the Americans in London society.

"American hostesses do not seem fond of having their fellow Americans at their functions," he said, "and prefer to fill their houses with English. In other words, they come to England and England submerges them.

"This, I think, is largely due to the example set by Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, as the big affairs at Dorchester house are remarkable for their galaxies of smart English, and conspicuous because of the absence of many Americans. The Americans at such entertainments might usually be counted on one's fingers.

"I do not attribute this to court influence. The tendency of the new reign, as I view it, is to make society open to interesting people. To be a member of millionaire dom is not a necessary qualification."

In the courthouse square the ceremony of honoring the memory of the Poles killed in the civil war was performed, wreaths being placed at the base of the soldiers' monument. Addresses were delivered by President Kilkuski of Chicago, president of the alliance, and city officials.

Edison Park's Unique Scheme.

Everybody will "loaf" but father in Edison Park tomorrow. The sane Fourth celebration to be held there will be essentially a children's and mothers' day—with the heads of houses furnishing the amusement. And the "daddies" of the suburb have their work cut out for them. Among other "stunts" they will trundle their youthful hopefuls in infant vehicles before the judges' stand. The behavior of "papa" will figure in the points of award. The day will open with a parade which will comprise floats and symbols representing historical events. During the afternoon there will be patriotic exercises and games.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets

Note:—Miss Russell will be glad to answer any question pertaining to womanly beauty. For years she has been a student of the art and is, as every one knows, a wonderful illustration of what her methods will accomplish. Miss Russell has no affiliation with any special or professional beauty regime. She will talk and advise you of her experience just as a woman would to another woman friend. Write to her freely. She has agreed to tell the readers of The Tribune all the secrets of her toilet and give them all her tonic and cosmetic recipes, and more than any other American woman, Lillian Russell can tell what every woman should know who wishes to be beautiful. Those desiring a personal reply from Miss Russell should be particular to inclose an envelope properly stamped and addressed.

Interdependence of Mind and Body.

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL

[Copyright: 1911: By Lillian Russell.]

MANY men and women of today, without thinking about it, accept the idea that the mind is the only thing to be cultivated, and that to it, separate and apart from the body, belongs all the glory of mankind. These people do not remember that the brain is physical and its cultivation means mind culture.

The right development of the body insures a sane outlook of the mind. The mere fact that you throw back your shoulders, raise your eyes, and gaze straight ahead upon the world will clear your brain of a tendency to doubt and worry and change your outlook on life to one of joy and content.

From time immemorial mothers have washed the tearstained faces of their children as a panacea of their childish griefs.

You all know the effect a bath and your best frock have upon you when "the black butterflies" begin to flutter about your head.

All bodily changes are accompanied by mental phenomena. The emotion of anger ofttimes transforms an angelic face to that of a fiend and love will glorify even a pug nose.

It is a well known fact among physicians that when a patient gets to a point where she takes no interest in her personal appearance usually the beginning of the end has come.

Often a purely physical remedy is prescribed for a morbid, psychological condition, as every medical practitioner knows that any regulated exercise, such as deep breathing, bathing, cycling, etc., will train the nerves of the neurasthenic back to a healthy condition.

The will may be called the soul of the nerves, and it is just as interdependent with them as is soul and body.

The highest type of womanhood is not a creature of mind and spirit alone but one who tries to have a sanely beautiful body as well. She knows that the great plan of nature only considers the physically perfect, and if she adds to it breadth of mind and grace of spirit she is fit for the kingdom of heaven.

Remember, the woman of mind may amuse but the woman of heart never wearies.

Lillian Russell's Answers to Her Inquirers

D. N.: I am sorry to say that there is nothing which will restore hair. A dye is the only remedy, and I do not advise a young girl of your age to attempt this. Remember that dyes have to be applied repeatedly and gradually rob the hair of its luster, leaving it dull and dead looking. Why do you not try to save the remainder? It can be done if you will begin immediately to regard the rules of health. The best tonics for hair turning prematurely gray are massage, cleanliness, light, air, and physical exercise. The condition of the hair depends largely upon the condition of the body, and if your general health is good your hair is pretty apt to be likewise. If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and again ask for it I will send you recipes for an excellent tonic and shampoo for your hair and instructions for scalp massage, which is one of the best preventives known for premature whitening of the locks.

M.: I am mailing you the formula for a skin food which I have used for twenty years. If your elbows are rough and wrinkled, you should make a habit of wearing elbow pads. Take a thin layer of cotton batting about two inches wide by three inches long and lay it in the center of a strip of thin cotton cloth ten inches long by three and a half inches wide. Put this bandage around the arm at the elbow point, fastening smoothly and securely. At night also wear the bandages, but moisten the cotton batting with skin food. Do not forget to give the elbows a thorough scrubbing with a nail brush, hot water, and plenty of soap at least once a day. Better give them this scouring each morning. Following this advice systematically will result in smooth, dimpled elbows at the end of two or three weeks.

MARGARET L.: I do not advise a girl of your age to try to reduce flesh. Most young girls are chubby and shapeless. Wait a year or two and your waist will lengthen and your body will gain normal proportions without any particular effort on your part.

ISABEL: Use mascara to darken your eyelashes and eyebrows. If you will read the note to M. you will find I advise her on the subject of rough, wrinkled elbows. If you care for them and will send me a note with your stamped envelope asking for recipes for a hair tonic and skin food I will be glad to send them to you. You are very welcome to all the formulas and advice you need.

EMSY: If you will send me a letter with a self-addressed stamped envelope I will send you the recipe for a soothing salve which I am quite sure will heal those troublesome blotches. I have used the salve myself for years for pimples, eruptions, etc., and it has never failed to help. Be careful of your diet. Banish pork and veal. Avoid sweets, pastries, anything very sweet or correspondingly sour, anything very hot or cold, fried foods, as croquets, doughnuts and crullers, hot breads and white bread. Drink plenty of buttermilk and water, just cooled, but not ice cold. Forego tea and coffee and ices during the summer and see the improvement in your health and complexion during the next three months.

GRACE: My dear girl, you must remember that beauty always is in the eye of the beholder. I should think that a girl with light hair, large gray eyes, a fair complexion, and dark eyebrows would be good looking, indeed, but whether she would be as pretty as the girl with the dark eyes and dark hair I cannot tell unless I should see them together. It is not a question whether I admire light hair or dark hair, or both. In some countries you will find that the brunettes are more admired and in others blondes. I hope you read my article on Beauty Standards this week; it may give you some suggestions on the subject.

PORTIA: Do not, I beg you, think of coloring your lock of white hair. Any one who is fortunate enough to have it should consider it a great beauty. Whistler, the great American painter, had a white lock of which he was so inordinately proud that when his hair began to turn he colored it so as not to destroy the beauty of the one lone tress. Mrs. John Jacob Astor, who is considered at present one of the most beautiful American women in English court society, has a broad band of white at one side of her forehead. A friend of mine has had a white lock ever since she was a child, and her hair is always combed to make the most of it. She keeps this lock washed until it looks like a beautiful white aigrette at the side of her temple, and naturally she has a most individual air which marks her immediately in any gathering. White hair cannot be restored; the only way that you can tint it is to use coloring matter. I am sending you under separate cover names of two or three hair dyes, but I would not do anything with my white lock if I were you except to cultivate it in every particular, as you have a most individual and attractive mark of beauty.

Woman and Her Interests.

When a Man's Married.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

[Copyright: 1911: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

WHEN a man's married he should not be expected to "get off the earth," as many single women imagine he should do, jocosely speaking.

Because he has chosen one sweet woman does it follow that he should persistently shut his eyes to the rest of femininity—friend with but one, and that one his mate?

Being married should not bar a man from exchange of thought with the clever women with whom he comes in contact. He knows full well his wings have been clipped, but he would not fly away if he could—the only thing he should beware of is "the smile too broad or the laugh too long."

A man cannot stamp out the politenss in his nature, born in him, therefore is he to be held accountable because foolish females insist upon misconstruing his chivalry for a nearer and dearer sentiment? The married man is more tolerant with the ways of women than the single man; his sympathies are broader.

When he extends the use of his umbrella to a pretty girl in a downpour of rain to the car it is not necessary to be supposed he is smitten with her. He would do, no doubt, that for any woman were she homely or beautiful.

The married man's sympathy is often the keynote of his downfall. If he goes out at noon to get a good meal to satisfy the cravings of an empty stomach—sending in a tray for the stenographer containing a few dainty morsels—is it to be supposed he is in love with her, blonde though her hair is, and sweet her smile? Certainly not! He is simply considerate.

If he is a hail fellow well met, enjoying his club with all the enthusiasm of his single days, are the scandalmongers justified in hinting darkly that there is a neglected wife in his home whose life is desolate and who is craving his attention? If he has a soul attuned to music and seldom misses hearing a particular opera of which he is especially fond is it to be supposed that he is experiencing an extravagant heart throb for the beautiful diva in the principal rôle?

If he is called to Europe suddenly and his wife cannot get ready on short notice to accompany him and the diva happens to be on the same steamer are lawyers justified in placing their services as quick divorce attorneys at her disposal? Certainly not. When the market flops and he has to stay at his office all the long night through, parrying with frenzied customers (the troubles which he thoughtfully keeps from his wife) are her relatives justified in engaging the services of A. Spy & Co., detectives, to keep tabs on him? By no means.

Does not the married man make one of the best of citizens? He cannot pull up stakes whenever he would, for he has home ties to bind him down. He may not adore his neighbors, but he is obliged to make the best of them. The married man's ambition has no time to lag—his wife keeps it keyed up to its highest tension.

If romance is taking a little vacation within his breast he should not be suspicioned; his heart is true to "Polly."

If a handsome woman covertly glances more than once his way is it his fault because he is better looking than the single fellows unnoticed with whom he jostles elbows? He does not consider the matter important enough to recite the tale to his wife.

He is too wise—thinks too much of her to stir up a tempest in a teapot. A married man knows the value of avoiding wrangles, having learned "silence is golden" when the truth, somehow, looks off colored.

The married man, of all others, has to stick close to his platform as the shining light of the community and above reproach.

The slogan of the married man must be "the wife, first, last, and all the time."

Shall He Buy a Ring?

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am engaged to a girl back north of whom I think a great deal. We correspond and I see her about twice a year. I am 28, while she is four years my junior. Now, I was once well to do, but misfortune came and swept away my money and with it most of my friends. She has been loyal to me and realizes fully that we cannot marry yet awhile, as I am still in debt. Strange to say, I never have bought her a ring, though I have given her souvenir spoons and other small presents. We have been engaged over a year now, and I want to get her a ring, even if of small intrinsic value. However, when I try to get the size of her finger she refuses and says I should pay my debts first and save my money, as we will need it later. What is the proper course for me to pursue? D. H."

I think it best to follow the girl's suggestion and pay all your debts first.

* *

Certainly, It's Wrong!

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a widow, 55 years old, working in a store. The proprietor fell in love with me at first sight. He gave me a diamond ring and he gives me most all my clothes. He tells me he loves me better than any woman he ever saw and I love him with all my heart. He is 60 years old and has a wife and family. Do you think it is wrong for me to accept those gifts. MRS. D."

Certainly it is wrong! What kind of a woman are you? You are old enough to know how the world labels such affairs. Try to have some self-respect and honor about you. Get out of the place at once. How would you like to have your husband making valuable presents to a woman?

* *

"He Stagged It."

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have been going with a young man about two years and we have been engaged about six months. The other night he went on an excursion and didn't ask me to accompany him. He told me all about it the next time he came over. Don't you think he should have asked me to go? Should I say anything to him about it? I felt much hurt, as nearly all the rest of our crowd went. He didn't go with any other girl. He simply stagged it. BRIGHT EYES."

No; better not say anything about it. Rather treat the matter as a joke instead of something serious. He may have had some good reason for not wishing to take you.

* *

He Won't Go Home with Her.

"Dear Miss Libbey: My girl friend is desperately in love with a young man of the same age as herself. She finds that after the theater or dances he is unwilling to accompany her home when my friend and I are along. He lives on the south side and she lives on the north side, and he says that when it is on our way home we might just as well take her home, because it becomes late before he gets home. Do you think he cares much for her when he says it is too far for him to go? My friend would rather not take her home, but to be polite he does so. A. B."

The man should show her the courtesy of accompanying her home.

* *

He Doesn't Love Her.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 21 and have been keeping company with a young lady of the same age for the last nine months, but I do not love her. I have told her several times she is not the young lady that I desire for my wife. I told her over and over I do not love her, but still she keeps on corresponding with me and calling me up and making engagements with me. It seems impossible to break them. She keeps it up until I say yes just to get rid of her. Then I am sorry for saying it. What can I do to have her forget me? She said she loves me and can't forget me. I would not want to break our friendship, as I like her as a friend but not as a sweetheart. ANXIOUS."

Do not answer her letters. Cultivate more will power. When you make up your mind to do or not to do a thing force yourself to stand by your decision. The safest course for you is to have as little as possible to do with the girl.

* *

He's "Made Foolish."

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am dissatisfied. I am 23, live in a large city, and have an excellent position. When a young chap I had nothing to do except attend to my studies. At the age of 21 I stopped college and found a position and have gained promotion rapidly. I have always had plenty of money and have tried every sort of amusement possible, but find nothing that is really fascinating. I have traveled considerable and have been made foolish by a number of young ladies. Is it possible that you could suggest something that would make me more contented? I haven't a single bad habit. "A MAN ADMIRER."

Until you get rid of your egotism I don't see how you can be anything else but dissatisfied. Get the idea out of your head that you count for so much. A man who rates himself so high as you do really doesn't amount to a row of pins. Put less time in "making foolish with girls" and try to improve yourself by study.

Economical Housekeeping.

BY JANE EDDINGTON

For a Merry Fourth.

OF whatever sort our efforts may be to celebrate our national holiday we are really trying to be patriotically merry and glad. The more merry influences, the more the things that make for worry and annoyance and dread will be displaced.

In the less affluent days of the nation, when there was yet no need for a national campaign to bring back sanity—because our celebrations were sane—a good deal of the pleasure of the day was taken in the Fourth of July dinner—a middle of the day dinner, full of seductions, and big and heavy enough to take a good deal of noisy energy out of youth. People were not then so rich in table devices as now, but some of the seasonable viands, like the salmon in a certain part of our country, most appropriately made their appearance then and were welcomed more or less uproariously as great novelties.

Now that we take particular delight in serving a meal that is not quite like anything that was ever served before, and are highly gratified when our guests tell us we have succeeded in doing so, the Fourth of July dinner offers us a splendid opportunity to test our ingenuity.

What can we do to make our viands merrily and patriotically suggestive of the holiday? If we start with a suggestion or two and let our minds get busy on the possibilities, we may find ourselves having more fun than we ever had planning a hallowe'en festival or the trimmings for a Christmas tree.

Our meat dish, a roast of some sort, may be made to assume a very warlike appearance by using a suitable collection of garnishments. A circle of mashed potato, sloping to the edge of the platter with toasted bread suitably trimmed, may help to make the whole resemble a fortified citadel, which the hungry ones are about to take by assault. The cannon to stick out over the battlements of this fierce inclosure may be of carrots boiled or stewed whole. As for ammunition little turnip balls may be strategically piled at each end of the platter, or small boiled onions may help out in some way to suggest shot and shell.

If there is a desire to suggest soldier and sailor, too, a cannon may be cut out of bread, and an anchor also, both being well browned in hot fat.

If the roast is of lamb, young new peas will be a variety of ammunition which will suggest a pleasant kind of warfare. If carefully managed these may be piled in a pyramid, especially those of the larger varieties.

As for decorations and desserts, there is much that we can buy, but there is a great satisfaction in devising our own things. With the colored sugars we may make a flag frosting for our cake. White ice cream may be served in molds or in little pasteboard rings tied around with blue ribbon or paper and decorated with a cherry.

The beautiful and luscious cherry is always acceptable. A table decorated to suggest the utensils of war is described in one of the July magazines. At four corners cherries were piled like cannon balls, the pile topped with a flag. As to the cake, the originator of the decoration says: "I made jelly roll, and, instead of rolling it in the conventional shape, I rolled it more into a cone, which, after being coated with chocolate, and mounted on two large sugar cakes (an ordinary wooden skewer being used for an axle), made an excellent substitute for a cannon."

The Liberty Bell may always appropriately have a place in such a manifestation of patriotism. The unfrozen or gelatine creams may be cooled in a bell mold. The dessert maker who is clever in making her own molds of paper, to suit an occasion, can make individual bell molds for this dessert. Almost any one can put their wits to work if they enjoy such exercise and produce something attractive and unique.

Baked Beans.—Look over carefully one pint of navy beans. Cover with a quart or more of water and soak overnight. In the morning put them into cold water and let them come to a boil. Pour off this water and put on fresh hot water. Let simmer for two or three hours. Wash a piece of pork and boil with beans. About noon put beans and pork into a bean pot and let bake in slow oven until dinner time. If the pork is salt it must be freshened a little. Keep beans moist and covered. Remove cover long enough to brown the top beans a little. A pinch of soda may be added to the beans while boiling if you wish.—Mary E. Gould, 3731 Ellis avenue.

Little Fables for the Little Ones.

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE

The Boy Who Forgot.

ONCE there was a little boy who was the Despair of his fond Parents. They heaped upon him all that Money could Purchase. He had a Horse and a Red Wagon and a private Tutor. The Tutor struggled Manfully to earn his Way through college by Pouring Golden truths into the Thoughtdome of the Little Boy, but often times the Wretched Tutor Would mop his perspiring Brow and Wish that he had decided to Drive a Horse on the Garbage Dump instead of teaching refractory Youth. He would sit Hour after Hour and Patiently Inform the little boy that the late G. Washington was Indeed the Father of this Country, including Indiana, but when he would Ask the little boy who was the Father of this country and Indiana, the little boy would make Answer, "I do not remember." Then the Tutor would weep great Tears and Tell the little boy That if he did not Learn to remember who was the Father of this Country and Indiana he would be a miserable Failure when he Grew up to man's Estate. It was the same in Everything; the Multiplication table, the Rule of Three, and the Incriminating fact that Bangor is the capital of Maine on the Kennebec river, The little boy just Could not Remember. How his Fond mamma and his Proud papa Scolded. "How will our child Achieve fame and Wealth?" said they. "He is a Backward child," said Father. "Why did we keep him When the Brick yard Pond was only two Blocks away and there was a big Sack down Cellar?"

All the Fond friends of the Father and Mother of the little boy who could not Remember used to pity them Sincerely and they would bring their own dear Children who were All Prodigies of Learning over to recite "Little Drops of Water" and "Mary had a Little Lamb" to show how easy it was for Bright Children to remember what they were Taught and Alas how sad it is to be the Parents of one who was Mentally Defective. "It is indeed Truly sad," said the Mothers and Fathers of the Precocious children. "Why little Gladys just learns Things to Heart so naturally, but, of course, there is Everything in the way Children are brought up. Maybe if you Rubbed him in Goosegrease and Worked over him More constantly with a Bedslat he could Remember things much Better."

But all Efforts to Make the Little boy Remember proved in Vain and the little Boy grew up and all of his papa's and mamma's old friends Eagerly waited News of his Incarceration in the County almshouse for Life.

But, greatly to the Surprise of all, the little boy became one of the most Influential Men in the great Community wherein he Lived. The Parents could not understand the reason for This, but one day they read the Account in the paper of their Son's appearance before an Investigating committee which wished to Find out the strange Carryings On and Cutting up of certain and divers Moneyed Interests. They put the little boy, now a Grown Man, on the Witness Stand, but every time the Committee asked him a Leading Question the Witness would say, just as he had said to his Patient

Tutor years ago, "I Do Not Remember." The Stern Faced Inquisitors would say, "Is a Hundred Dollar bill Mineral, or Animal, or Vegetable?" and the Witness would make answer, "I Do Not Remember." Then the Committee, bursting for Information, would ask, "Is the Great Metropolis of Chicago on Lake Michigan or the Ohio River?" and the witness, after Racking his head, would Answer Thusly, "I Do Not Remember."

And so the little boy, who had once been Punished by his parents and driven his Sad-faced Tutor to Strong Drink because he Could not Remember, Grew and Grew in Wealth and Honor and the Number of his Fiduciary and Bonding Companies, and Wise parents no longer Larruped their Young who could not recall Whether it was one J. Cæsar or William Jennings Bryan who Discovered America; but Instead they would just Naturally Beat the Heads off of their Offspring if said Offspring stood up and Recited the Multiplication Table or the Names of the States of the Union without getting Sand in their Memory Carburetors. The Men who Advertised in the Magazines with a picture of their Weird Faces and a Finger pointing right Straight Out and said as follows: "Success Depends on Memory; Buy a Memory From Our New Stock and Do not Be a Dub, for we can Instill a Memory into a Canary Bird; Send For Our Illustrated Pamphlet and Do it Now," all such were publicly mobbed by the Indignant citizens and Driven out of Business because they instilled False Ideas into the Minds of the Very Young.

In place of these False Prophets in Sheep's clothing there rose up a New School of the Truly Wise who taught People in ten Lessons by mail How to Forget whether the United States was a Nation or a Disease, and in Ten Lessons a Pupil of this School could not Remember whether his Own Uncle was a Human Being or a Five Toed Pterodactyl. People who Insisted on Remembering were Treated as Social Outcasts and Looked down Upon and the Fish Worm became the National Emblem in Place of the Eagle, which is indeed a Noble Bird but which is Cur-sed by the Possession of a Memory.

Pastors Indorse Plan to Pray Daily at Noon.

THE plan proposed by the Chicago Christian Endeavor union urging Christian Endeavorers of Chicago to pray silently at the stroke of noon each day, in addition to their regular devotions, was indorsed by pastors of various denominations in their sermons yesterday.

The prayers are to be for the salvation of the nearest unconverted person to them at the time. The Rev. John Timothy Stone, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church, said:

"Anything that calls to the attention of the Christian people the need of winning others to Christ such as this specific measure tends to increase their individual obligations and responsibility."

"Naming a definite time—at the stroke of noon each day—when all Christians will pray for the salvation of the unconverted is good," said the Rev. Samuel M. Gibson, associate rector of Grace Reformed Episcopal church.

"A double blessing will result—the Christion that prays will be blessed and the unconverted whose salvation is prayed for will be influenced to conversion."

Others who advocated the plan were the Rev. Henry E. Rompel, Centenary Methodist Episcopal church; the Rev. Martin D. Hardin, Third Presbyterian church; the Rev. Charles G. Unangst, Kimball Avenue United Evangelical church; the Rev. Frank N. White, New First Congregational church; the Rev. T. F. Dornblaser, Grace English Lutheran church; the Rev. Alexander G. Patterson, Christ Presbyterian church; E. P. Gates, field secretary of the Illinois Christian Endeavor union; and A. G. Fegert, superintendent of the evangelical department of the Chicago Christian Endeavor union.

Talks of "American King."

"He Hath Made Us Kings" was the text used by the Rev. Johnstone Myers.

"Every man in America is taught independence," he said. "The lesson enters into the constitution of the United States—into our strictly American literature—into the text books of our public schools. Our songs voice the sentiment of personal freedom and personal kingship. A good American citizen must control himself. His passions and powers must conform to the laws and the rights of others.

"An American citizen controls others, but only by love and kindness. We call it influence over others, but it is the power by which we lead others. Our American people are led by a few great lives in every community toward patriotism and righteousness."

Defends Prayers in Schools.

Declaring that those who charge that the public schools are "Godless, irreligious, and immoral" are trying to make them so by seeking to banish the Bible, prayer, and sacred songs from these institutions, H. H. Van Meter, in an address at a union service in Maywood last night, argued that enemies of the public schools are endeavoring to supplant them with sectarian schools to be sustained by public funds. Mr. Van Meter asserted that those who engage in this crusade are trying by threats to prevent an invocation or benediction at graduating exercises on the ground that it is contrary to the federal constitution.

A Guaranteed Efficient Automobile $350

The Biggest gun ever fired in the Automobile Industry

The Liberty-Brush

With a Power Plant that Will Run 35,000 Miles

The Car that Frees the Horse

AS a declaration of independence for the horse, we announce appropriately at this Fourth of July season a new model Liberty-Brush car which will occupy the same position in its class as the famous Brush Runabout does among the thousands who satisfactorily use it.

The $350 Liberty-Brush is the result of long experience in manufacturing a car of this type. It insures:

LIBERTY to go where you will, when you will, without dependence on the movements of others whom you cannot control.

LIBERTY to go anywhere easily and comfortably without regard to steel rails or the ordinary limitations of travel.

LIBERTY to go to your destination directly and quickly without delays, with a minimum expenditure of time on the way and to do more work in less time and at less cost.

The new Liberty-Brush car means for you:

FREEDOM from crowded street cars and the discomforts and delays of street car travel.

FREEDOM from the necessity of catching trains or waiting for connections.

FREEDOM from failure to keep appointments, loss of time traveling from one customer to another and the loss of money that such failure means.

Everybody has wanted a motor car and has waited for the time when it would be within his means. The Liberty-Brush fills the want.

The Liberty-Brush, built on standard lines, and a thoroughly capable car, is made possible by our tremendous manufacturing facilities and the fact that we are willing to manufacture for a small profit on each car.

It is a car for salesmen, collectors, solicitors, canvassers, and for anyone who must get quickly from place to place. It is an ideal car for family use, as a boy or girl of fourteen can drive and care for it.

Most important of all, it is the product of the United States Motor Company, which immediately assures its position and its worth.

It is an epoch in the automobile industry, marking as it does a response by a standard manufacturer to the demand for a motor car that any man can buy and maintain.

We have 1800 dealers throughout the country selling our various products, but shall need more dealers to handle this car. We require a representative in every county and a rare opportunity is offered for men of energy who wish to enter a business with a great future. Write or wire for our proposition to dealers.

We shall continue to manufacture the Standard Brush Runabout at $450.00, the success of which is attested by the thousands in service.

For catalogue and booklets describing the car in detail, address the Sales Manager, Liberty-Brush Car, at the New York headquarters.

SINGING OPERA IN ENGLISH.

A month of grand opera in English, now closed, leaves the inexpert with mixed opinions. Critics agreed that in the main it was exceptionally well sung. The Aborn company, with such defects as the expert noted, presented four operas at a time when the pop of exploding summer drama and various forms of stage entertainment could be heard all over town, and drew satisfactory and satisfied audiences.

We doubt that the fact it was opera in English had half as much to do with it as the fact that it was opera at a very reasonable price and it is not given to the inexpert to say whether the cause of the former is advanced or not.

Many Americans find that a sense of incongruity plays havoc with whatever sense of the artistic they have or might develop. When the libretto is in English and when the enunciation of the singers is clear there undoubtedly are moments when an understanding of the words is regretted.

It is not necessarily the fault of the librettist. A situation of the most commonplace realism given a musical setting is beyond the power of the writer of words. The remedy must lie with the audience. It either perceives or does not perceive the incongruity and it is still a question how much of the hopeless banality of a conversational phrase is ignored or passed over unnoticed. The opera which has none of this realism presents another problem. There the librettist, if he were a poet, might raise the dignity of his work to the dignity of the music, but, as an illustration, the proffer of a drink of whisky gains nothing by being made in English.

On the other hand there can be no doubt that the audience is put in more intimate relation to the production when the language of the opera is its own, when its sympathies do not depend on the study of a libretto, on the acting ability of the singers or the obviousness of the situations and story for an understanding.

A NAPOLEONIC MANIFESTO.

Public business must be interfered with somewhat when French premiers and the members of their cabinets have to lay down their portfolios shortly after they have taken them up. Too many of the deputies seem to devote time, which could be more usefully employed, to getting up schemes for turning premiers out of office. That does not, however, justify Prince Victor Napoleon's assertion that parliamentarism has reached its last phase and that France is dying of "absent authority and false democracy."

The fall of the Monis ministry, which seems to have inspired the latest Napoleonic manifesto, was the Parisian sensation of an hour. The French people were not excited by it. It did not convince them that a change in the system of government was desirable. They have not lost faith in the republic, though it is occasionally guilty of follies.

The declaration of Prince Victor Napoleon that if ever a French democracy should summon him to the helm he would make free use of honest and experienced republicans does not fill the French with enthusiasm. They have a painful recollection of the last Napoleon who ruled over them. He made fair promises, which he broke. Worst of all, he cost them Alsace and Lorraine.

The prince has something to say of "manifestations of anarchy, postal telegraph and railway strikes, 'jacqueries' in the Marne and Aube, and repeated scandals throughout all the administrative departments." He mentions some disagreeable facts. But his hint that if the country, "disabused of the chimeras of demagogues," were to intrust its destinies to him order and progress would be assured will not be taken.

France will have to be far worse governed than it is before the people turn for relief to a Bonaparte.

OPPRESSING GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

The following letter already has appeared in THE TRIBUNE. But it is repeated here because, though it is anonymous for obvious reasons, it describes a case of which there must be thousands in Illinois. It is because of the perpetuation of injustices like this one of which "John Smith" complains that THE TRIBUNE urged upon the legislature the enactment of the tax reform amendment and the passage of the tax commission bill as the necessary beginning of a relief sorely needed.

Here is the letter:

Chicago, June 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Speaking of tax dodgers, I am one of them, but I feel it my duty to protect myself when the government tries to rob me. I am past work, and by denying myself most of the pleasures of life during forty years of arduous work have saved $20,000, which is invested in city of Chicago bonds paying scant 4 per cent, or $800, which, by good management and utmost economy, supports my wife, my invalid daughter, and myself. If I scheduled the ownership of this little hoard the tax eaters would rob me under guise of law of $350 to $400 of my little income.

There are more ways than one to rob a man, and I claim, in hiding my ownership, I am taking the only means of defense the weak have against the strong.

Who are the loudest in denouncing the tax dodger? In my acquaintance it is those who never saved a dollar or paid a cent of taxes. For obvious reasons I do not sign my own name.

JOHN SMITH.

Here is a man or the representative of a class of men which is the bone and sinew of any nation, thrifty, industrious, self-sacrificing. He has especially all the virtues which the economic theorist of the older American individualist type declared was rewarded by the system of laissez faire. He is the sort of man which intelligent statecraft and public policy having a care for the soundness and material prosperity of a nation would most anxiously protect and encourage.

Yet in the vicious chaos of our tax system this man, though the very best type of citizen, is driven by the direst necessity to evade the law.

August courts of review protect great corporations from confiscatory legislation, even from legislation which reduces its dividends below a "fair return."

But this good citizen finds no protection from the extortion of outrageous taxation to the extent of half his little income. This is a blood tax and cries to heaven against the folly, indifference, and short sighted selfishness of men.

The tax evil is not the product of the influence of special interests. It is the patchwork outgrowth of years, and in its wastes, its injuries, and its injustices we are all more or less victims and accomplices. A combination of prejudice, petty politics, and stupid indifference clogged even the first slight steps of reform in the last regular session of the legislature. Are the people of Illinois not ready to wake to the magnitude of this evil and set about remedying it?

THE DISTURBER.

There was an appreciable lack of tact in the aviation exhibition of Harry Atwood over the Thames course of the Yale-Harvard boat race. That show rightfully belonged to two crews of young men who had put in many hours in many weeks for the honor of occupying the eyes of thousands of spectators for a matter of a little over twenty-two minutes. When their moment of supreme test arrived a man who had come by air from Squantum, 133 miles away, was cutting capers in the air over their heads with the mayor of New London as a passenger.

A dog fight around the corner from a meeting of an ethical society could not have had more disastrous consequences. It is reported that even the Harvard oarsmen half forgot about the race and were looking overhead at the exhibition. It may be a consoling reflection to the Yale men that this also was the trouble with their crew.

The thing was an invasion of ancient rights.

RESTORING ORDER IN MEXICO.

De La Barra's provisional government in Mexico, employing the federal army and the Maderist together in operations, seems to be successful in putting down the brigandage and outlawry which came with and in the wake of the revolution. Figueroa has been put in charge of the rurales and his good intentions are not in doubt.

Organized disturbance is restricted to two or three prominent bad men, but rioting, murder, and looting are outcroppings wherever unprotected wealth tempts attack. Quick punishment was given the instigator of an assault on the person and property of Baron Von Hiller of the Hacienda Pardo, near San Luis Potosi. It was peculiar in incident but probably typical of the dangers which will threaten until the country has been pacified.

Andreas Lara, a local judge, made it possible for the peons to get liquor. When they were intoxicated, some 400 in number, they were incited to an attack from which the baron and his servants barely escaped with their lives after several assailants had been killed. An alarm was sent to San Luis Potosi and thirty Maderist troopers responded. They found Lara busy gathering up the rioters who were coming out of their intoxication. Ostensibly he was a vigilant officer of the law, but the prisoners had a strange tale to tell of his part in starting the trouble.

The troopers searched his home and found a quantity of the stolen property. Lara confessed. He was backed up against a tree and shot.

Ricardo Flores Magon, the socialist held responsible for the disturbances in Lower California, has been arrested in Los Angeles for violation of neutrality laws, and the Magonists are being dispersed by the federals and Maderists. Sixty disturbers who were holding Mexicali are reported to have sold their "possession" to the citizens for $10 apiece.

Federal troops have been sent after brigands who have been holding up traffic to the south. The merging of such portions of the Maderist army as will be retained under arms with the federal army proceeds with great good will on both sides, and the promise is for a tranquil period preceding the elections.

De La Barra has reiterated his statement that he will not be a candidate for the presidency.

"It is my mission to restore the nation to a normal basis before the government is passed to my successor," he said. "This is my greatest ambition. I will not accept the nomination."

RANK JOBBERY.

THE TRIBUNE is for everything which makes for honest elections—which enables the voter to cast his ballot with greater ease and with a certainty that it will be counted correctly. For that reason it resents all the more the brazen effrontery of the two Democratic election commissioners when they pretend that they are seeking to confer a great boon on the Chicago electorate. They are trying their best to put through a barefaced iniquitous million dollar job.

If these men had been conscientious, if they had had any respect for public opinion, they would have tried to answer the questions Commissioner Czarnecki asked, and would have agreed to some at least of the motions he made. No, the business had to be "jammed through."

Men who had any regard for their reputations would have agreed that it was only fair to ask the people who would have to pay for the machines whether they wished to spend a million for them. They would have agreed that only a few machines should be purchased at first, so that there might be a fair trial. They would have agreed that the defects pointed out by their own experts should be remedied before any contract was entered into. But acceptance of any of these common sense propositions would have balked or hung up the job.

But it takes something more than two conscienceless election commissioners to unload on the voters and make them pay for a lot of untried machines. That was a pertinent question of Commissioner Czarnecki, "Where is the money to come from?" There can be no money unless the council shall vote it. It cannot be forced to vote the million dollars. Does anybody suppose that it can be bought up? If the election commissioners were to buy a few machines to find out how the voters took to them the council doubtless would vote the money, and it is not in on the million dollar scheme.

THE COUNTY CIVIL SERVICE LAW.

The new county civil service law is no more welcome to the politicians who now have the say in county affairs than to those who hope to have it in the future. Naturally the former are making the best of what they consider a bad business. They have made all the removals they could and put in their personal or political friends who will now have the protection the law gives. They have simply done what Republican politicians, similarly situated, would have done.

The men who have been turned out may not have been at the start any better than the men who have replaced them. But they have had experience and the changes may impair a little the efficiency of some departments. There will be no such impairment, however, as there would be if the president of the drainage board were allowed to dismiss a number of highly trained and indispensable employés. The substitution of one clerk for another makes little difference. The removal of experts is a serious matter, not to be tolerated.

Now that the fear of wholesale and arbitrary dismissals for political reasons has been removed the county employés ought to let politics alone and pay more attention to their work than in the past. Those among the new men who shall prove themselves utterly incompetent should be weeded out gradually, though that may be difficult, because of the influence they may have, because it is not always easy to convince civil service commissioners of a man's incompetency, and because many judges are ready to reinstate men who have been discharged for cause.

The complete benefits of the merit system can be had only when there is a civil service commission composed of men who are not puppets of the appointing power, but who are intelligent, conscientious, devoted to their work. The new mode of selecting members of the commission may help matters somewhat, but the choice of the best men is not to be hoped for.

Therefore it will be necessary for the friends of the merit system to be always on the alert. The civic organizations which have been instrumental in getting the law should be its vigilant guardians. When they see it violated, or evaded, they should be quick to call public attention to it, and secure the full support of popular sentiment. That is the best guaranty of the enforcement of laws.

We have after many years' effort the merit system for Cook county. Much good will ensue, even if the new law be half-heartedly administered. To secure the best results it must have the support of the people.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1911: By the Brentwood Company.]

FRANCE'S new premier, Joseph Caillaux, is one of the most unpopular men in France, by reason of his reputation for skill in devising new imposts and his championship of the income tax system, which is resented as an inquisitorial intrusion into the private life of citizens.

Some time ago, when he was minister of finance in the Clemenceau administration, he created a great outcry by proposing that fox, deer, and boar hounds should pay a heavy tax in addition to the ordinary dog tax. The uproar raised by this proposal was enormous, when the fact is borne in mind that there are only about 150 packs of hounds still kept for hunting purposes in France.

Hunts, however, are regarded as aristocratic. It is considered smart to be identified with hunts, and, failing that, to be intelligently interested in that particular form of sport.

The Marquis de l'Aigle, who enjoys with regard to hunting in France much the same preëminence that is held by Lord Lonsdale in England, called upon Minister Caillaux, in the name of the St. Hubert club, of the Jockey club, and of the leading horse breeders' associations, in order to inform him the proposed tax would absolutely do away with hunting in France, since the owners of every one of the packs in France had decided to get rid of their hounds if the impost became law.

He pointed out to the minister, moreover, that whereas the tax would bring in a relatively small sum, the loss to the allied interests would amount to something like $15,000,000 a year, since the abolition of hunting would mean the discharge of all the servants employed in connection with the hunt, and losses to horse dealers, horse shoers, tailors, bootmakers, blacksmiths, saddlers, livery stables, etc.

These arguments, eloquently submitted to Minister Gaillaux, proved effective. For the minister, realizing that if the packs of hounds were abolished as threatened by the marquis, there would be none left to tax, abandoned his project, and the future of hunting was saved from extinction in France.

The interview between the marquis and the statesman must have been entertaining. For it is difficult to conceive a greater contrast than that which exists between the new premier, who is an expert financier of the French red-tape order, blended with a professor of the School of Political Sciences, and Robert de l'Aigle, who was secretary of embassy in London and Vienna during the last ten years of the Napoleonic empire.

The latter married a daughter of the historic house of de Colbert, and who, a noble of the old school, leads at his château of Franc-Port, near Compeigne, the life of a great territorial magnate, devoted to hunting and to horse breeding, his other pastimes consisting of water-color painting and the collection of rare books.

Caillaux is a son of the engineer of the same name, who, with the Belgian, De Gamond, first conceived the idea of constructing a tunnel beneath the channel between Calais and Dover, and drew Sir Edward Watkin, then president of the South Eastern railroad, running from London to Dover, into adopting the plan.

The tunnel would have become an accomplished fact at the time had it not been for the opposition of the English military authorities, headed by Field Marshal Lord Wolseley, who declared the existence of the tunnel would imperil England's means of military defense, and so scared the English people that parliament declined to give its sanction to the scheme.

Premier Caillaux has a certain likeness to the late Duc de Moray, and rather cultivates the resemblance by affecting what he imagines to be the manner of the famous half brother of Napoleon III. It is owing to this, rather than to any dissipation in the past, that he conveys the impression of a former viveur, or ex-rake. He is happily married to a rich and charming widow, whose large fortune makes him wholly independent of the emoluments of office, and also of any danger of having to restrict his expenditures in the event of his income tax bill becoming law.

It is curious that Caillaux's advent to power as premier should have followed so closely the political manifesto issued the other day by Prince Victor Napoleon, after a long period of silence. In this he states that "France should not tolerate a master, but wishes a leader," and, disclaiming all dynastic rights, insists that "the name of Napoleon stands for the sovereignty of the nation, civic equality, liberty of conscience, and the plebescite," that is to say, popular vote and universal suffrage.

For Prince Napoleon some two years ago came out in the most flat footed way against the proposal to introduce the income tax into France as a hateful and intolerable invasion of the privacy of the citizen and as introducing a form of tyranny to which no French monarchy would have ever dared to commit itself.

In fact, Prince Napoleon (whose wife, Princess Clementine of Belgium, is about to become a mother) stands in the eyes of the French people as a declared adversary of the income tax project of the new French premier.

Should Princess Clementine have a son, the event will prove of considerable interest on both sides of the Atlantic. For it will preserve the imperial line of Bonaparte from extinction.

Were Prince Victor Napoleon and his only brother, Prince Louis Napoleon (the latter of whom is unmarried), to die without issue, the sole remaining representatives of the Bonaparte family would be Charles Bonaparte of Baltimore, attorney general in the Roosevelt cabinet, and his nephew, Jerome Bonaparte of Washington, respectively the grandson and great-grandson of the great Napoleon's youngest brother, Jerome, by his first and American wife, Miss Elizabeth Patterson of Baltimore.

King George's visit to Ireland this week makes timely an allusion to the fact that he is genealogically and indisputably the direct descendant and supreme representative of the high kings of ancient Ireland. The history of Ireland goes back to Conaria Mor, or Conairy the Great, who, 600 years before Christ, ruled as high king over the clans of the Gaels of Ireland, at Tara.

From this Conairy the Great, the heroic ancestor of the Ny-Niels, to King Connor MacNessa, who 600 years later was the contemporary of the Roman Emperors, Augustus and Tiberius; from Connor MacNessa to Connor Nial of the Hostages, who reigned in the generation before St. Patrick came to Ireland; from Nial of the Hostages to Malcolm Cean Mor, who married the Anglo-Saxon Princess Margaret, sister of King Edgar Atheling of England; from King Malcolm to the heroic King Robert Bruce of Scotland, and then through the Stuarts, to the House of Hanover, and that of Coburg, to George V., the descent is as direct and as incontrovertible as any descent in ancient or modern history.

Of course, there are other persons, some of them great Irish nobles, and others mere commoners, besides hundreds of persons in the United States, who can show descent from the ancient kings of Ireland.

All those who wish to have further particulars of this Irish ancestry of King George I would refer to the works of the late Sir Bernard Burke, Ulster king at arms; to other Irish genealogists, and last but not least, to that trusted associate of Parnell and former Nationalist member of parliament, Frank Hugh O'Donnell, founder of the National Democratic league and a recognized authority on Irish history.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO.

THUS CLOSING THE INCIDENT.

"Begin the day by laughing."
—Lillian Russell.

There was a man in Our Town,
And he was wondrous blue;
But when he read the Russell dope
He knew just what to do.
On rising he began to laugh,
His doldrums for to scatter,
And laughed until his wife inquired,
"What ever is the matter?"
His only answer was to laugh
More freely than before;
He ran the scale of laughter, from
A titter to a roar.
His wife, bewildered, thought him mad,
As mad as any hatter,
And after each explosion asked,
"What EVER is the matter?"
His buttons flew off one by one,
His collar passed away;
It looked as if the loony wretch
Would laugh the livelong day.
The missus wearied of the joke
And hit him with a platter,
Inquiring, as he took the count,
"What ever is the MATTER?"

THE "death cup" is disappearing with amazing rapidity. Why? Because nobody's pocket has been affected—except for the better. We are all willing to help along a good cause if it doesn't cost anything.

WHILE a return to the male attire of Richelieu's day is not feasible, and perhaps not to be desired, the wearing of suspenders without a coat in hot weather, ought to be made a misdemeanor.

A Matter of Costume.

Floral Bluff, Fla., June 27.—At certain intervals there are references in the editorial page of the W. G. N. to the fact that it is hot in Chicago. Now, we have a temperature here from 100 to 105 in the shade, week after week, and never mention it. Experience has shown that it is all a matter of costume. We wear straw hat, sleeveless undershirts, a bath towel, and straw slippers. If your editorial writers would adopt this garb your columns would fairly scintillate. It is evident that your own Marquise and Lillian are thus clad when at work, for neither makes any fuss over the weather. R. S. H.

COMING across Illinois yesterday we overheard an interesting talk in the Pullman. A Chinaman, graduated from an American university, was on his way to China. He spoke good English, so the men in the smoking compartment engaged him in conversation. The Chinaman wanted to talk of Chinese literature, American poetry, and the pleasant landscape. The Americans wanted to talk about chop suey, the Boxer rebellion, and the difficulty of eating rice with chopsticks.

"THE FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE."

PAVING AND MAINTAINING STREETS.

Chicago, June 29.—[To the Friend of the People.]—If a street is ordered paved at the expense of the abutting property owners and it is done and paid for, is it lawful to require the property owners to pay for repaving the same street, say within fifteen years, or any other time? The street is dedicated to the city, it controls it, and not the owners of property fronting thereon. The city issues licenses permitting so-called public utility corporations to dig up the street for such purposes as they see fit, and then they are very lax in seeing to it that the corporations replace the surface in as good condition as they found it. The street is traveled over by the public with all kinds of vehicles, notably automobiles, which are notoriously destructive of streets. The street is not destroyed by the owners of abutting property, and it seems to me a gross injustice to require said owners to repave. Is there a fixed law on the subject, and, if so, what is it? M.

A street having been paved and the paving paid for by special tax on the abutting property may be ordered repaved whenever and as often as it is necessary in order to keep the street in safe condition for travel.

A macadam pavement is guaranteed for two years; other forms of pavement for five years. Usually a macadam pavement is good for eight to ten years and other forms of pavements from fifteen to twenty years. In the meantime repairs, if needed, are frequently made out of the vehicle tax fund, but when a street by reason of traffic or otherwise becomes so badly worn out that it cannot be economically repaired, a new pavement is ordered and a new assessment is levied on the abutting property for the cost of the same. The city is not a third person, but is in fact the people living within its territorial limits.

The city officials are controlled in their actions by the city council, which is elected by the people, and is their lawful representative. As a matter of course, the public has the right of use for all kinds of vehicles over all streets, and it is doubtful if any individual property owner would desire to make a rule that any one riding in an automobile should not be permitted to come to his house. Although the owner of a piece of property may not himself own any kind of vehicle, he may have occasion to require almost any kind of vehicle to come to his property, including services that may be rendered through the fire department, the police department, or the health department.

Fully 90 per cent of the property owners desire to have streets paved and maintained in good order and repair. If this is to be done it must be paid for, and it is more economical to provide such improvements periodically by direct tax than it is to pay annually an indirect tax into a general fund and then take chances on getting the street repaved.

The law is that the property owners should be notified when the matter of repaving a street is up for consideration, and that is done in all cases.

Chicago, June 30.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Please tell me when the sewers and water pipes will be put in on the streets lying between Seventy-fourth and Seventy-seventh streets and Vincennes road and State street; also when Vincennes road will be paved south from Sixty-eighth street.

M. W. FREEMAN.

The assessment has been confirmed for the paving with brick of Vincennes road, from State street to 50 feet northerly of West Eighty-second place, and the improvement will be made as soon as the street car tracks have been rehabilitated. We expect the work to be done this year.

A new proceeding has been started for a system of sewers which includes Vincennes road, from Seventy-fifth street to Seventy-ninth street, but the same has not been reached for public hearing as yet.

Contract was awarded this year for the laying of water mains in Vincennes road, between Seventy-fourth and Seventy-ninth streets, and the assessment will be in collection in January, 1912.

ST. PAUL ROAD AND ELEVATION.

Chicago, June 29.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I have had some narrow escapes from injury, having to cross the Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad tracks on the street cars on North avenue and on Division street, and having read so much of track elevation north and south of this district, I would like to know if these tracks are to be elevated?

A TRAVELER.

The tracks of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, Evanston division, from Montrose avenue south, are used for switching purposes mainly. There are many industries along this line which have side tracks into their yards and buildings, and there is no high speed traffic over these tracks except a few passenger trains each day. Where the tracks pass along the banks of the north branch, in many cases, it will require considerable study to determine the most advantageous manner of elevating them. In order to avoid unnecessary damages to abutting property along this line, it will be necessary that the whole problem should be worked out very carefully before an ordinance is drawn up. Switching across North avenue on the lead track to Goose Island causes annoying delays to traffic at this point, and the matter of regulating this switching to remedy this condition for the present is now under consideration.

FRANCIS J. OWENS,
Commissioner of Track Elevation.

SPECIFICATIONS NOT CHANGED.

Chicago, June 30.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Has the board of local improvements power to draw up specifications substituting more costly material than that which was in the ordinance confirmed by the County court? If so, and the contractor is forced to do the work according to the specifications as laid down by the board of local improvements, can he claim extras for same?

A PROPERTY OWNER.

The board of local improvements will not change specifications as set forth in an ordinance. If the contractor chooses any material more expensive than that provided for by the ordinance and specifications, it is at his sole expense, and he would not be allowed a claim for extras.

CHARLES A. V. STANDISH,
Secretary Board of Local Improvements.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

SCHOOL VACATIONS AND EMPLOYMENT.

Chicago, June 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The morning papers tell of the host of children who seek permission of the school board to work during the summer vacation, and, incidentally, I noted the statement that many of them were not obliged to take positions in order to aid the family. This morning a delicate little girl, looking to be hardly more than 12 years old, tapped timidly at my office door and asked if I needed a girl for office work. I could but pity the child as I was obliged to refuse her plea.

It would seem as though most of the horde of children who are let loose to flood the labor market or play in the streets would be far better off in school, even though the weather is hot. We read daily of the number of children who are bitten by dogs, and we noted the plea for the use of the streets for playground purposes in the tenement districts, and the question again arises, why not provide some means of keeping the children off the streets and agreeably as well as profitably occupied? Fathers who earn the living for families cannot look after their children, and too often mothers must supplement the wages of their husbands or become the sole breadwinners for their children. Hence they cannot devote themselves either to instructing or entertaining the little ones, and it is a problem to them as to what the children will do when left to themselves.

When in the schoolroom they are safe and profitably occupied. Why not continue some school work during the summer for all children, instead of the select few? Why close costly structures for ten weeks and let the children become hoodlums or be put to labor? No manufacturer allows a valuable plant to remain idle for a long term annually. When a factory closes down it is termed an economic waste. Why should the factories where men and women are in the making close down and let the product run to waste?

RAILROAD SCHOOL OF POLITENESS.

Chicago, June 30.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—One of the best things proposed by railroad officials since the driving of the first spike on the first railroad in the country is the "school of politeness" proposed to be established by one of the railroads leading into Chicago. To any one who has ridden for any distance on a steam railroad—to say nothing of elevated trains and street cars—especially in and out of Chicago, the necessity for such a school is absolutely imperative, for there is no class of men with whom the general public has to deal that is so wanting in simple politeness as railroad officials, from brakeman to officials high in this service. As a class, with now and then an exception, they are gruff, bluffy, and coarse in manner where they should be simply in a business way attentive and polite. We hope that some of the street car conductors will, when the school is established, take a thorough course of instruction in this department of education. The traveling public will most promptly approve this long delayed and much needed educational institution. J. F. B.

WEST SIDE AND SANE 4TH.

Chicago, June 30.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Concerning the article in this morning's TRIBUNE dealing with preparations being made for the celebration of a sane Fourth, the writer begs leave to say that it is a poor compliment to numerous west siders to be denied such July 4 exercises in the three parks enumerated as will be accorded visitors to the several other parks mentioned. It appears to me that the party or parties responsible for the decision used little common sense in the ruling. Did they stop to think for a moment of the mass of people who keep up the parks through payment of taxes who would gladly have attended the exercises were they held in their vicinity, but who for sundry reasons may be compelled to miss the entertainments on account of distance and inconvenience of travel?

Children of school age will be the heaviest losers. Many of them within a reasonable distance of the west side parks will undoubtedly be refused permission by their elders to attend alone elsewhere. Were the above mentioned points taken into consideration by the "board"?

AIR IN THE NEW STATION.

Chicago, June 27.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—At the new Chicago and Northwestern terminal station in Madison street the authorities there in charge have refused to open the doors and windows allowing fresh air to enter the building. They have not done this because they believe that their washed air process of cooling the building is sufficient to keep the temperature and air in a healthy condition. Their theory is wrong.

The temperature at night in the station stands around 82 to 83 degrees, when the temperature in the street in front of the building is around 70. They are correct in keeping the windows and doors closed between the hours of 10 a. m. and 6 p. m. in the day, when the air on the outside of the building is really warmer than the air on the inside of the building, but to prevent the cool air from entering at night is a mistaken idea. Policemen stationed there are constantly having complaints from the public in regard to this. Those in charge of the station have refused to remedy the matter.

As a publication that is always prone to take care of the public's interests, the writer suggests that you send one of your able young men to investigate this matter. By consulting policemen on duty there, there will be no trouble to verify the fact that they are subjecting users of the station to most unpleasant and unhealthy conditions by refusing to open the windows and doors.

ONE OF THE TRAVELING PUBLIC.

THE DOCTORS ARE HELPING.

Chicago, June 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I have read the editorial on "The Doctors Should Help" with interest. The suggestion that physicians "should open the eyes of the public to the evils of quackery" is an excellent one. As a matter of fact, the foremost medical organization in the country—the American Medical association—is doing, and has for some time been doing, this very thing.

When Mr. Samuel Hopkins Adams' series of articles on the "Great American Fraud" appeared in Collier's Weekly the American Medical association obtained permission of that magazine to publish Mr. Adams' series in booklet form. These booklets have been sold at practically the cost of production, and tens of thousands of them have been distributed. In addition to this, the American Medical association has exposed a large number of the most vicious and fraudulent of the "consumption cures," "cancer cures," and similar concerns. These exposés, while appearing in the official organ of the organization, the Journal of the American Medical Association, have also been amplified, slightly modified, to make them more acceptable to the public, freely illustrated, and then published in pamphlet form. These pamphlets are sold at or below cost.

Besides this, the American Medical association, through its council on health and public instruction, sends out each week over 2,000 of these pamphlets to the leading newspapers of the country (THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE being one). This same council also sends out each week a press bulletin to over 2,000 newspapers, giving either in full or in abstract, or both, selected editorials or articles which are considered as being of interest to the public.

In those cases in which a fake medicine or quack concern has been exposed in the Journal of the American Medical Association and exploited locally as well as generally a number of pamphlets are sent for free distribution to the city of its origin. It is evident, therefore, that the doctors are helping to open the eyes of the public to the evils of quackery.

I deem it of importance to call this error to your attention, and will ask that you give its correction as prominent a place as that in which it today appears.

BY SAM WELLER.

The ball game at Comiskey park would have been as drowsy as the weather yesterday afternoon had not the White Sox kept things livened up by whaling the ball to the fence at numerous intervals. With such a method of attack, the south siders gave the lowly St. Louis Browns a sound and decisive beating, the final count being 6 to 2.

The weather and the railway service coming to Cleveland seemed to have riled the Sox into a fit of anger and the poor Browns fell victims to their spite. They batted the ball to safe ground twelve times for a total of twenty-two bases, made possible by a double, three triples, a home run, and seven singles. Belting the ball so hard kept the crowd of about 7,000 persons wide awake and brought occasional bursts of applause, although in the end the Sox had accomplished nothing more than the beating of St. Louis, which is quite a commonplace event in the American league race.

"Restful" Game for Sox.

After five rousing battles with the rejuvenated Cleveland club the contest with the Browns was restful in spite of the raving heat. "Iron Man" Lange went to the slab and heaved the ball for six innings, allowing only four hits, when the manager decided it was useless to expend so much energy to obtain such a trifling result. Fred Olmstead, the ready relief man of the Sox pitching staff, finished the game without experiencing a bit of danger, while Lange was sent to the cooling room to be groomed for coming battles with the worthy Detroit foe.

St. Louis presented its most formidable pitcher, Mr. Barney Pelty, whose arm has retained its youthful tenacity through many seasons of big leaguing, while his mind has improved year by year until today he is looked upon as one of the smart slabmen of the league. Barney's mind may have worked to the highest extreme of efficiency yesterday, but the heat evidently weakened the arm a bit, just enough to permit the Sox sluggers to meet the ball squarely. Had it not been for some gallant fielding by the veteran second baseman, Laporte, the Sox would have possessed a few more base hits and one or two more tallies. He spoiled two or three chances by cutting down legitimate base hits and turning them into outs at first base.

Browns Take Hard Chances.

Two of the St. Louis outfielders tried to make catches that were beyond their power and this helped the Sox to a couple of runs, for the ball got past them, one going for a three bagger and the other for a home run. On the other hand, the Sox defense was splendid from start to finish with the exception of a slip on the part of Jimmy Callahan, and this slip gave the Browns one of their two tallies. It happened in the fourth inning, when one Brownie was on first base and Al Schweitzer pulled a terrific drive just inside third base. The ball got mixed among the braces of the fence in front of the left pavilion and the feet of Olmstead and Block, who were warming up. "Cal" finally located it in time to make the runner stop at third, but while he made two or three frantic paws at the ball Schweitzer scooted on home.

The Sox had driven in a couple of runs before this and the mistake allowed the count to be tied. It was not for long, however, for the Sox belted in two more runs in their half of the same round and "Shano" Collins added another in the sixth with his liner at Schweitzer's toes, the ball going through him to the right wall for a home run. Another run batted home in the eighth inning made the victory sure beyond a doubt.

Smart Play by Tannehill

A sharp piece of fielding on the part of Leeford Tannehill prevented the Browns from counting in the first inning. One was out when Austin rapped to left for a base. Just as he started to steal, Lange whirled and shot to first base, and Austin, realizing he was caught, stopped between the bags. Collins, however, made a wild heave to McConnell, who was covering second, and luckily Tannehill was backing up the play, and was able to leap into the air and spear the ball, then run to the bag in time to tag Austin. The next man died on a fly ball that Callahan pulled down close to the left wall.

The Sox produced nothing in their first attack, but in the second round, with one out, McConnell drew a base on balls, Collins' slashing single to right field put Amby on third, and he scored on Tannehill's long fly to center.

One was out in the third when McIntyre walked to first base. He was moved to second on Lord's out, and scored when Jimmy Callahan got a triple to center field, Shotten attempting a shoe string catch, but missed. Bodie flied to Shotten and left "Cal" dead at third.

Sox Mistake Costs Run

With the aid of the one Sox mistake, the Browns tied the count in the fourth. Shotten began with a walk and Austin pushed him to second with a sacrifice. Schweitzer then ripped a drive six inches inside of third base for a triple, scoring Shotten, and while Callahan was stabbing at the ball after he had located its resting place, Schweitzer came on home. Laporte followed this with a safe drive to right center, but in trying to stretch it to a double he slid over the bag and Bodie's throw nailed him before he could scramble back. Hogan fanned and closed the round.

McConnell opened the Sox half of the fourth with a safe one to right for one base. Collins flied out, but Tannehill's grounder put Amby on second, from where he scored on Sullivan's single to right. "Sully" took second on the throw home and jogged to the plate when Lange sloughed one to the fence in left center for three bases. Laporte went into the grass and robbed McIntyre of a hit, so Lange died at third.

After one was gone in the sixth "Shano" Collins hit a low liner to right field which Schweitzer tried to nab off his shoes and missed. The ball went to the fence and "Shano" legged it clear around for a home run. Tannehill died on a grounder but Sullivan walked and Dougherty, batting for Lange, pulled a hot single to right. McIntyre's wide grounder to Laporte, however, ended this rally.

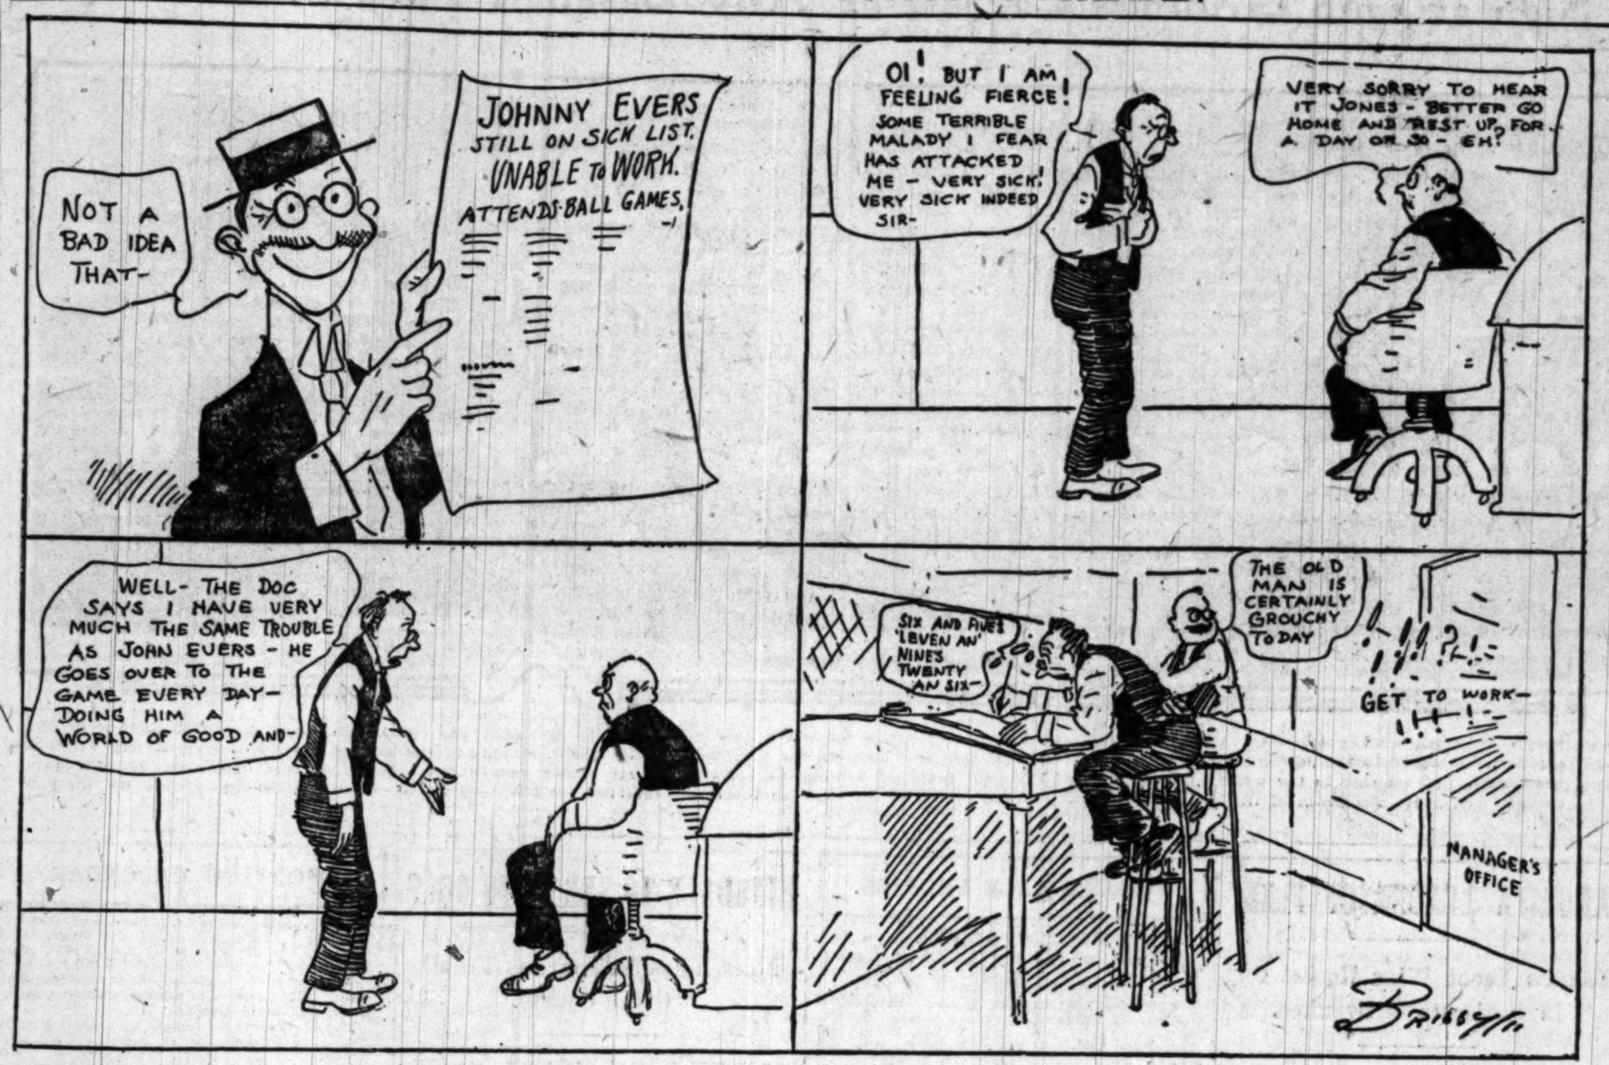

One More Count in Eighth

A double play cut the Sox off of a chance to count again in the seventh, but in the eighth they produced one run when with one out Tannehill hit to the flagpole for three bags and scored on Sullivan's double to left center. Olmstead landed a single to left, Sully being stopped at third, but both runners were left on the bases when McIntyre popped out and Lord grounded to the first baseman. The Browns had two men on bases with one out in the ninth when a double play ended the game.

SAM WELLERISMS.

Walsh and Young are the probable pitchers for the games tomorrow, and Baker will be the slab man for the third game of the series, to be played Wednesday.

After the trip to Detroit the Sox return home, having a day of rest on Thursday and opening on the home grounds against the eastern clubs on Friday, New York being the first foe.

Molly Meloan was missed from the lineup of the Browns yesterday. The cause for his absence was not made known. Schweitzer performed in his place and did exceedingly well.

Callahan had second base stolen in the fifth inning, but slid into the bag with so much speed that he went clear over and Laporte tagged him before he could get back.

Today is an open date for the White Sox. They expect to take a train early in the afternoon for Detroit and have a night's sleep in the hotel before taking on the Tigers in two games by way of celebrating the Fourth tomorrow.

It now looks as if Walsh, Lange, and Baker are the most reliable pitchers on the staff. Doc White is not feeling quite himself at present, and will be used sparingly until he recovers. Olmstead has proven a handy man to have about for relief duty.

Few pitchers except Barney Pelty could have started the execution of that double play in the seventh inning which broke up a Sox rally. It was a double play on a bunt, Lord being on first when Callahan bunted. Pelty made a lightning play to second base, and Laporte shot to first, getting "Cal" by a hair.

Matty McIntyre has gone two days in succession without a base hit. He was robbed of one yesterday by Laporte, and Birmingham robbed him of one the day before. Olson, too, grabbed one of Matty's hot grounders which should have gone safe. Before that Matty had not missed getting a hit since June 16.

When Pat Dougherty went to bat for Lange in the last of the sixth inning there were cries of disapproval from the fans, which were quickly hushed when Pat pulled a base hit to right field. Lange was not taken out because of any fear over the result of the game, but because some of his energy was to be preserved for the Detroit series, should he be needed.

SOX BREAK SPEED RECORDS TO GET HOME FOR BIG GAME.

Wreck Delays Comiskey's Men and Wild Ride Across Three States Results—131 Miles in 128 Minutes.

In order to land the White Sox in Chicago in time for yesterday's game with the Browns at Comiskey park, it was necessary to make a lightning ride by rail, at times over sixty miles an hour, across a part of Ohio, all of Indiana, and a bit of Illinois. A wreck of a freight train delayed the Sox train for more than six hours during the night and, though the players were due to reach Chicago at 8 o'clock in the morning, it was 1 o'clock before they arrived, and that was made possible only by searing the conductor into the belief that a $20,000 crowd was waiting here for the game.

The Sox left Cleveland at 9 o'clock on the Pennsylvania road, and before they had made the run down to the main line all the athletes were in bed and asleep. When they awakened early this morning they found they were just sixty-one miles out of Cleveland and had to make a run of nearly 300 miles before reaching Chicago. It was said eighteen freight cars were piled up on the tracks at the station of Orville, O., and it was long after 6 o'clock before the way was cleared.

Then the race began. The train ran 131 miles before it stopped, and made the distance in 128 minutes. At Fort Wayne, which was reached before 10 o'clock, a dining car was hooked on, no one having had breakfast yet. There were nine Pullman cars loaded with passengers, and all were hungry, and the scramble for the dining cars lasted until the train reached Chicago. Evidently the engineer had been tipped off to the $20,000 crowd waiting for the Sox in Chicago, and ran with the throttle wide open, for he landed the train in Chicago an hour earlier than was expected.

The Sox missed a morning's rest at their homes, having to go directly to the ball park from the train, but they showed no signs of weariness on the ball field in the afternoon.

COLLINS NOT BADLY INJURED.

Athletics' Star Second Baseman Will Be Able to Return to Game for Detroit Series.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 2.—[Special.]—Eddie Collins, star second baseman of the Athletics, was not so seriously injured as at first supposed when he collided with Murphy in the game at Washington yesterday and will be able to play by July 11, when the Athletics begin a series with Detroit. When Collins returned to the city today the X ray was placed on his injured arm at the University hospital. It was found that no ligaments had been torn, and he is suffering from a minor fracture.

Today the regimental team match will be held, and every regiment in the state will be represented.

In one of the minor events, Jay Graham, the amateur from Long Lake, Ill., who arrived too late to compete in the big event, broke twenty-five targets straight. Following are the scores of the 125 bird contest:

D. E. Thomas	118	J. H. Amberg	104

The hot weather kept most of the shooters from going to the Chicago Gun club range to take part in the weekly shoot. J. R. Sharp did the best work, securing first place in four events, all of which were shot from the sixteen yard mark.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

As if to assure their absent peerless leader that his much needed vacation would not seriously endanger their pennant prospects, the Cubs turned the full force of their masked batteries on the Reds yesterday and lambasted them, 13 to 3, thereby acquiring undisputed title to second spot.

The real combat lasted less than fifteen minutes, inside of which period the Cubs had obtained a lead of four runs by swatting George McQuillan's offerings until the temperature went up another ten degrees from the heat caused by the friction of horsehide shooting through air. That advantage the Cubs kept right on increasing steadily with the help of Red boots until McQuillan finally was removed from the map to see if Fromme's luck would not be better. It was worse.

Big Ed Reulbach qualified as a hot weather performer of class by going through seven innings without serious trouble and without letting the Reds score a run. He had some eloquent assistance, particularly from Tinker and Doyle, each of whom spoiled hits that would have made some noise in the run column.

Emil Richter Given Chance.

In the eighth inning, with a lead of eleven runs in his favor, Reulbach was touched for a couple of long drives which netted three runs with the help of a wild heave by Joe Tinker. Emil Richter starred in the ninth to avert any possibility that the intense heat would get Reulbach's number.

Sixteen swats were banged out of the stuff put over by McQuillan and Fromme. Enough of these swats went into the empty emergency seats to net the Cubs a total of twenty-two bases. Wilbur Good was the hitting kid, all right. He whaled out four safeties in four chances, and they were of assorted sizes. His first swat was a three bagger, his second a scratch which squirted off McQuillan's mitt, his third was a double, and his last drive a long single. The bugs were rooting for that last one, too, because it meant a clean record of 1.000 for the day. Good split his hits into two parts, with a base on balls between them.

Schulte and Zim Bat Hard.

Bridegroom Schulte and Bachelor Zimmerman ran a dead heat for second honors in the swat business with three safeties apiece. Schulte would have had four if Downey had not robbed him egregiously by a rattling stop in the third inning. Schulte did not have the inspiration of his bride's presence to spur him on to greater deeds, but Zimmy was inspired by the receipt of a telegram telling him that an ardent admirer of his would be ensconced in box 48 and would be looking at him with the hope of meeting him after the game. As there were half a dozen possible fair admirers of his in the aforesaid box Zimmy was in a quandary, but did his best to make a hit with all of them. Perhaps he does not know yet that genuine telegraph messages are not delivered on sending but on receiving blanks.

Sheckard opened the game with a near hit which Mitchell pinched on a line. Schulte singled and Hofman popped out. From there the Cubs cut loose and for several minutes the mercury kept right on climbing. Good smashed a three bagger into left center where there were no seats and no ground rules. Zimmy banged a single through Egan, and Doyle lammed a double to left. Tinker singled over short and four runs were in. It might have been more, but Actor Joseph was nailed trying to make two corners on his single.

Good Fast on Bases.

Good scored the next Cub tally by good use of his good legs. Two were out when Wilbur caromed a grounder hotly off McQuillin's mitt, and flashed across first before Downey, who retrieved the ball, could get it there. In a jiffy Good stole second, and never stopped until he counted. He went on to third because McLean winged the ball high into center field, and came home because the same McLean was so busy trying to dig up an alibi for his throw that he failed to see the return heave from center coming his way until it was too late to head off the ball.

In the fourth Doyle singled, went to second on Tinker's sacrifice, and scored when McQuillan muffed a throw from Hoblitzel trying to retire Graham on a grounder.

Two went out in the fifth before the Cubs bagged their usual tally. Good worked a free passage to first in that session, and Zimmerman made himself solid with the mythical "Ioline" by smashing a three bagger into center.

Fromme took charge of the firing in the sixth, and began by passing Tinker; Graham sacrificed him to second. Reulbach popped out, and Sheckard was passed. Tinker and Sheckard scored on Schulte's single to center. Sheckard started to stop at third on this hit, but, seeing the ball being returned slowly to the infield, sneaked home before the visitors woke up. Schulte was pinched trying to make second on this play.

Bunch Hits for Two Runs.

In the seventh Hofman's single, Good's double, and Tinker's single got together for two more runs, and the eighth saw the total raised to thirteen by four clean hits. Saier batted for Reulbach and started the rally. Sheckard's out let Victor to second, and Schulte's single scored him. Hofman was thrown out by a narrow margin, advancing Schulte to second. Good came up and deposited a Texas leaguer just outside the line on foul ground. The crowd groaned and still hoped for a fourth hit for him. He banged the next one safely into left, scoring Schulte. Zimmy followed with a safe rap to left, but was nipped trying to make two bases on it.

In seven innings the Reds got one man as far as second base, and made only four safe hits off Reulbach. Big Ed had quite some assistance in accomplishing that minimum of swats. In the first inning Doyle stole a hit from Downey. In the fourth Tinker perpetrated the same outrage on the same Downey, going back to the grass and winging his man at first. In that session Hoblitzel rapped a double into the right field empties, but not until two were out, so it was wasted. Tinker robbed Egan of a hit in the fifth.

Doyle Stops Threatening Reds.

The Reds hit Reulbach some in the sixth. McQuillan opened with a single, but was forced at second on Bescher's rap to Doyle. Downey sent a liner crashing toward left, but Doyle reached out and grabbed it in midair. Bescher was too astonished to get back to first ahead of Doyle's throw, which sailed high and compelled Hofman to jump in the air to complete the double play. In the seventh Doyle stabbed another hot liner. It was from Bates' bat. Hoblitzel walked and Beck was substituted to run for him, only to be forced out at second by Mitchell. Graham disposed of Grant.

One out in the eighth, Tinker gave McLean a life at second by a low throw that hit the stand. Fromme popped out, but Bescher was passed. Downey and Bates followed with clean two baggers which drove home three runs before Beck's out ended the inning. Richter started the ninth by striking out Mitchell. Then he pinched Grant's grounder and tossed him out. Egan singled, but Clarke hit to Richter, who sprinted to first and made the final put out himself.

New "Tribune" Sign at Cub Grounds Largest at Any Baseball Park in Country.

Baseball patrons who attended yesterday's Cub-Cincinnati game were amazed at the speed with which the mammoth new scoreboard in left field was completed during the brief absence of the Cubs from the west side grounds. The entire advertising space on the new board has been bought by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for a period of three years, making it the largest individual sign at any baseball park in the country, and, so far as known, the largest painted sign in the world. The surface of this new fireproof scoreboard contains nearly 23,000 square feet. It is 168 feet long and 136 feet high, exclusive of the supports which elevate the surface well above the heads of the bleacher patrons. In the center of the expanse the space reserved for the display of American league games by innings measures 35 feet 2 inches by 15 feet 5 inches.

CUB SYDELIGHTS.

Off day today.

Two games tomorrow, morning and afternoon, with Cincinnati.

Bridegroom Schulte was cheered heartily when he first came to bat in the opening session and responded with a single.

Johnny Evers was on the bench in uniform, but did not risk getting into the hot sun for fear it might produce a brain storm.

The popcorn champion was at the game for the first time this season, apparently as fit to defend the title as ever.

Reulbach had a hard time keeping his uniform shirt inside his belt. At times he looked like an overgrown Chinaman in native costume, all except the knickerbockers.

Jimmy Sheckard handled the acting manager's job perfectly, but its worries apparently interfered with his getting a part of the swat pie into which every one else except Graham cut merrily.

Downey and Hoblitzel had to do some stellar work to get Schulte at first in the third inning. Downey grabbed Schulte's bounder far back of the base line and hurled it high to Hobby, who speared it and held it in time for the decision.

The Cubs took advantage of Philadelphia's idleness to gain second place clear of a tie, but the Phillies have a chance to tie it up again today. The Cubs hope they will, as it will mean taking a game out of the leaders.

The presence of overflow seats in right and left fields made necessary ground rules holding the long hits in those directions down to two bases apiece. The heat kept so many bugs away from the game that the seats were not needed, but they made no difference in the count of runs.

The field looked much improved with the removal of the 25 cent stand, which formerly obscured the clubhouse that used to belong to the Cubs and is now used by the visitors. The solid green expanse is now wide enough in center field so that the batsman will have nothing to complain of as to background, and what is left of the 25 cent sittings was not crowded yesterday.

CHANCE RESTS AT RESIDENCE; TO CONSULT DOCTORS TODAY.

Peerless Leader Feels No Ill Effects Following Collapse at Cincinnati, but Fears Physicians' Orders.

Manager Chance of the Cubs felt no serious effects yesterday from his collapse on the field of battle in Cincinnati just before Saturday's game. The Cub leader reached home in the morning in company with his players and went directly to his north side residence, where he remained all day to avoid exposure to the intense heat which prevailed all over the city and made the west side arena a near melting pot.

While the ailing manager will not decide definitely his immediate future until he has had further conferences with his doctors today, it is probable he will accept their advice and go to the country for a fortnight or three weeks, in which to get his mind off the game entirely.

The latest theory regarding Chance's condition is that the last blow he received from a pitched ball produced a slight blood clot, which would explain his inability to take active exercise without danger of collapse. Nor will the cause of the trouble disappear, it is asserted, while his mind and nerves are kept on edge trying to manage his team from the bench. The Cubs are due to leave for the east tomorrow night and it is probable that Manager Chance will not risk accompanying them, although it will be a bitter disappointment to him if he gives in to advisers and remains at home.

TOO HOT FOR SOCCER PLAYERS.

Game for Second Place Medals in Association League Postponed on Account of Heat.

The tropical heat of yesterday caused a postponement of the soccer match scheduled at Peel park between the McDuffs and Woodlawns. The match was to decide second place medals in the championship race of the Association Football League of Chicago, for which the teams tied at the end of the regular schedule. In addition to the heat the ground was littered with four dead horses which were burned by a fire on Saturday night at a stable adjoining Peel park. The horses were turned loose into the field, but died from their burns. It is probable the match will not be played until fall. Joe Munro of the McDuffs left last night for Columbus, where he will remain for several months.

High School Boy Wins Swim.

R. Over of Crane High school won the fifth preliminary in the 100 yard swim at Atlantic beach, Riverview park, yesterday. He covered the distance in 1:20. B. McClanahan of Lewis Institute was second, and J. Steuer of Lewis Institute, third. The final race, with fifteen starters, will be held next Sunday.

Veteran Turfman Dies.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 2.—William J. Thompson, familiarly known as the "Duke of Gloucester," who owned the Gloucester race track when racing was permitted in South Jersey, and was the most influential Democratic politician in that section of the state, died today in Belfast, Ireland.

AMORITA LEADER OF FLEET

Baum's Yacht Wins Herbst Cup in Cruise to Milwaukee.

MARGIN ONLY NARROW ONE.

Juanita Seven Minutes Behind, After Meeting with Trouble.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 2.—[Special.]—Under every stitch of canvas it could carry and with its lee rail smothered in foam, Dr. Baum's schooner yacht Amorita led the way into the harbor here this morning at eight minutes after 4 and won the Herbst cup, in the cruise from Chicago which started Saturday afternoon. But it was a lucky win. The big yawl Juanita, to which Amorita gave a big time allowance, was in sight when Amorita went over the line. When glasses were turned on it it was seen to be in trouble. Juanita's topmast and gaff had been carried away when the backstay tore out its cleat, and the yawl was limping in under its mizzen, jib, and staysail.

The yawl made good time, however, even with the short sail it carried and threw a scare into the crew aboard Amorita. The disabled craft arrived at 5:19:12, and its corrected time left Amorita a margin of only seven minutes.

Carry Canvas Through Night.

The boats carried all their canvas through the night. At daybreak Amorita was just rounding the point off South Milwaukee. Right with her was Commodore Thompson's Valmore, which accompanied the fleet as non-contestant. Astern of these two were the big yawl Juanita and the schooner Hawthorne, which left Chicago early in the afternoon and made the trip as a noncontestant.

An hour later Vencedor, leading the vanguard of the "inshore division," was made out with its rail awash. Then came the smaller sloops in a close contest for the remaining places. Only seconds separated Mavourneen, Larikin, Neva, Josephine, and Seboomook, while Illinois was only a few minutes astern. It was a dead heat between Larikin and Neva, the two boats getting a single gun at 7:05:09.

While only twelve boats were active participants, eighteen yachts made the trip, and it was the most successful race, from a number standpoint, in the history of the Herbst cup.

Summary of the Race.

All the yachts will be in good trim for the return race to Chicago. The yachts will start back home at 7 o'clock tomorrow night. Summaries:

AMERICA TO HAVE STAR TEAM IN OLYMPIC GAMES OF 1912.

Another Unbeatable Squad Is Predicted for World's Event—C. A. A. Team Returns from Pittsburg.

That America will be represented by another unbeatable track and field team in the Olympic games at Stockholm, Sweden, next summer was predicted by experts after the remarkable performances registered in the National A. A. U. championships at Pittsburg on Saturday. Three records were broken while the time made in other events seemed fast enough to insure victories abroad next year.

The Chicago Athletic association team, which finished seventh, returned to the city yesterday in charge of Coach Martin Delaney and Harry Latham, chairman of the athletic committee. Delaney said the meeting was the best he ever saw and that the American team should win the Olympic games of 1912 easily.

"In the running high jump eleven men cleared the bar at six feet," said Delaney, "and seven of them did better than 6 feet 2 inches. Frank Coyle of the University of Chicago missed by the narrowest margin the honor of being the first pole vaulter to clear the bar at 13 feet. After three of them had tied for first place at 12 feet 6 inches the bar was raised to 13 feet. On his first attempt Coyle after making a beautiful takeoff cleared the bar perfectly, but in coming down he ticked the bar with his hand. The bar wavered an instant and then fell off, thus depriving Coyle of a great honor. He tried to make the height again, but failed.

"Lindberg, who represented the C. A. A. and won the quarter mile run in :49, ran one of the best races of his career and if the track had been faster I am certain he would have negotiated the distance in :48. He took the lead at the crack of the pistol, held it all the way, and defeated some of the best quarter milers in the country.

GOLF RECORD FOR GARDNER.

Hinsdale Player Sets Mark of Thirty-three Strokes Over Tuscumbia Course in Wisconsin.

Green Lake, Wis., July 2.—Robert Gardner of the Hinsdale Golf club of Chicago, national amateur champion in 1909, yesterday set a new record of 33 strokes for the Tuscumbia Golf course, the previous record being 34 by Professionals James Millville and Harry Colburn. Gardner was playing in a fivesome in which he, with his sister, Mrs. W. France Anderson, and Charles L. Dering of Midlothian, opposed W. France Anderson and Henry Gardner. The course was in perfect condition and the Yale boy at the top of his form.

MOTORCYCLE RACES PROVE DISAPPOINTMENT TO "BUGS."

Small Fields and Few People Probably Due to Turf Events at Hawthorne Today and Tomorrow.

Followers of the motorcycling game were disappointed at the races held at Hawthorne race track yesterday under the auspices of the National Association of Letter Carriers as the feature event of the first of a three day program. The prospects of horse racing today and tomorrow probably had its effect on the attendance, which was almost too small to mention. The "big" days will bring out a big crowd of turf fans who will see some of the best horses now performing at Latonia.

The track yesterday was in poor condition for motorcycling and the flyers were unable to make anything like fast time. Bomark, the "Flying Swede," on an Indian, furnished several thrills during the afternoon.

The tameness of the motorcycling events was offset in a measure by the women's races. Lizzie Bender was victor over a large field in the married woman's sixty yard dash. The Chicago policemen's team won the one mile relay race, one of the features of the day. Bomark won the two five mile motorcycle races in the only creditable time, 5:34, in his first attempt and 5:40 in the second. B. Blankenheim scored a victory in the first race of the day and Winson on an Excelsior captured the third race in 6:30½.

A baseball game played in the morning between letter carriers of the south and west side stations resulted in a victory for south siders, 7 to 3.

READY FOR DUBUQUE REGATTA.

Over 1,000 Craft to Pass in Review in Annual Event Today—Expect Fast Time in Speed Trials.

Dubuque, Ia., July 2.—[Special.]—Dubuque with suppressed excitement awaits the review of the cruising boats which will assemble here tomorrow from the south as far as Louisiana, Mo., and north to St. Paul, in the opening event of the big water carnival.

A great deal of interest in the speed events, which open on Tuesday, continuing on Wednesday and Thursday, centers in the forty foot championship, which bars no craft of any dimension up to forty feet. The course is twenty miles, and keen observers declare the winner will have to average more than fifty miles an hour. Cup and cash prizes represent over $5,000. In the free for all mile straightaway against time, one craft at a time, bettter than a mile a minute is predicted.

The twenty foot class is attracting attention. La Crosse parties declare they will carry off the honors, although Dubuque has a speed demon, known as the Adams boat, with a freak aeroplane revolving cylinder engine, that is believed will be inside the money, barring accidents. Its friends claim fifty miles an hour for it.

The city is gayly decorated and the old levee is the scene of tremendous activity. Of late years it has almost been deserted, due to decadence in river traffic, but today recalls to old rivermen the days of the middle of the last century. The grandstand, seating 7,000 people, is ready for use.

HINSDALE TO SEE BOYS GOLF

Interscholastic Tourney Finally Given Course.

THIRTY-FOUR ENTER MEET.

Pairings Drawn and Thursday and Friday Set for Competition.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

After being tossed around like some of the open tournaments, the individual championship of the Western Interscholastic Golf association finally has found a resting place at the Hinsdale Golf club, the officials of that organization having consented to let the boys play over their course next Thursday and Friday.

As this will give the youngsters a fine course and should bring out a lot of good golf, the Hinsdale authorities deserve a lot of thanks for giving the boys encouragement. When in the national amateur championship at the Chicago Golf club in 1909 seven out of the eight players who went into the third round were Chicagoans there was a "gurgling of ghoulish glee, or something akin to it. This sweep was due largely to the encouragement given the seven players when they were youngsters by their respective clubs.

Boys Should Be Encouraged.

The successes scored by the Midlothian youngsters have made it one of the best know clubs in the country. If Chicago is to hold its own in future national tournaments the young players must be encouraged, and the policy being pursued by some of the local clubs in shutting their doors to the Western Interscholastic tournament would appear to be a poor one.

Winners of the Western Interscholastic championship in past seasons include such well known names as Charles Evans Jr. of Edgewater, Warren K. Wood of Homewood, Kenneth P. Edwards of Midlothian, Gordon Copeland of Skokie, W. E. Clow Jr. of Onwentsia, Gordon Yule of Kenosha, and Fraser Hale of Skokie. The Western Interscholastic has been the stepping stone to higher performances in the realm of golf.

Thirty-four Enter Tourney.

Secretary S. P. Griffitts has received thirty-four entries to date, the pairings for the qualifying round on Thursday morning being as follows:

F. Hale, New Trier, and S. P. Griffitts, La Grange.

Foster, La Grange, and Pope, New Trier.
Copelin, La Grange, and Kiser, Evanston High.
McGarry, La Grange, and McDonald, Lane High.
Black, Lane, and Taylor, Chicago Latin.
Crowdus, Hyde Park, and Fuller, Chicago Latin.
Scott, Hyde Park, and Burns, Evanston High.
Townley, Hyde Park, and Stuart, New Trier.
C. Fisher, La Grange, and B. Gates, Evanston Academy.
Scribner, Chicago Latin, and Ridgely, Bowen High.
Brewer, U. High, and N. Hale, New Trier.
Ingram, U. High, and Tabor, Milwaukee.
Hagmann, Bowen, and Bishop, Evanston Academy.
D'Ancona, U. High, and Chamberlain, Evanston Academy.
Silvester, La Grange, and Jones, Lane.

RICH STAKE TAKEN BY OSSIAN.

Baron Rothschild's Chestnut Colt Wins $22,000 Race in Paris—Mushroom, English Crack, Runs Second.

PARIS, July 2.—The Prix du President de la Republique, valued at $22,000, with a special trophy for the winner, today provided one of the most interesting races of the season at Maisons-Lafitte. The presence of T. Baring's English crack 3 year old, Mushroom, lent an international character to the event.

Baron Maurice de Rothschild's Ossian, a chestnut colt by Le Sagittaire, at 14 to 10, and Mushroom fought it out in the stretch, Ossian winning by a neck in an exciting finish. Xavier Balli's Rire Aux Larmes was third three lengths behind. William K. Vanderbilt's Negofol was not placed. Seven horses ran.

William K. Vanderbilt's bay filly Presight was second in the Prix de Grignon, a selling event at seven furlongs. The same owner's Sightly won the Prix Cheri, with H. B. Duryea's Los Olivos second.

Goullet Leads Bicyclists.

Newark, N. J., July 2.—Alfred Goullet won the twenty-five mile bicycle race at the Velodrome today, with Eddie Root second and Frank Kramer third. The time was 57:53 3-5.

FIGHTERS READY FOR 20 ROUND GO

Wolgast and Moran Conclude Training for Title Bout Tomorrow.

BOYS IN FINE CONDITION.

Champion Rules 10 to 7 Favorite Over Challenger; Both Boxers Confident.

San Francisco, Cal., July 2.—Champion Ad Wolgast and Owen Moran, challenger for the lightweight title, who will meet in a twenty round fight in San Francisco July 4, each put in a long day's work today in short boxing workouts and road runs. It was the last session before the fight, as the two little fellows will rest tomorrow.

Both men are in fine condition, so both managers declare, and so declare the hundreds of fans who made the pilgrimage to the beach to see Wolgast and to San Rafael to see Moran.

Wolgast pranced out on the hard beach road at 8 o'clock this morning like a young colt and galloped eight miles without the slightest sign of distress. After a short go at shadow boxing he lounged until lunch time, renewing his workout early in the afternoon.

Dougherty Given Pommeling.

"Hobo" Dougherty furnished amusement for four rounds of fast pommeling. Dougherty, who is possessed of considerable "pepper" and hitting ability, was whacked about like a strawman, Wolgast keeping up a sharp tattoo on his ribs and jabbing his face.

"I didn't want to hurt him," said the champion, apologetically, afterward, "but I felt so good I just had to do a little walloping."

Moran put in a slower but none the less strenuous day.

The preliminary moving pictures of the fight, the concessions for which were sold after a wrangle to "Jimmy" Coffroth and Charles Harvey, Moran's manager, were taken, and for nearly two hours the little Britisher danced about, posed, and punched his sparring partner in front of the camera.

F. Perry, a young San Francisco aspirant for pugilistic honors, submitted to the pommeling, and, like Dougherty, he was thoroughly and vigorously thumped. Moran prefaced the moving picture workout by a session of shadow boxing and a short run.

Both Managers Confident.

Both managers used superlatives liberally in speaking of the condition of their men.

"The boy is in better condition than he was when he fought Nelson," said Tom Jones, Wolgast's manager. "Moran has never been in such fine fighting trim in his life," said Charles Harvey, who is looking after the British fighter's interest.

Betting on the contest is still light, with Wolgast's backers holding out for 10 to 7 odds, with little better than 2 to 1 offered.

BARADA TAKES BOUT ON A FOUL.

Walter Little Loses Match at St. Joseph After Being Warned Repeatedly by the Referee.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 2.—[Special.]—Jake Barada of St. Joseph won from Walter Little of Chicago in the eleventh round on a foul at the Eagles' clambake today. Little had been twice cautioned by the referee, once in the third and again in the seventh round. Little opened an old wound over Barada's left eye in the fourth, causing a flow of claret that bothered the local man throughout. Danny Goodman of Chicago and Freddie Daniels of St. Joseph went fifteen rounds to a draw. Goodman had a knockdown to his credit in the fourth round, but could not follow the advantage. Daniels in the next round recovered his lost ground. Frank Howard of St. Louis and Zeb Cordonierere of Wathena, Kas., fought six fast rounds to a draw.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

Tattersall [175] and King [110] will meet in the 18-2 Class B tournament at Foley's tonight.

George Wheeler and Charley Schaefer will play the last block in the three cushion series tonight at Schaefer's rooms.

John Daly, the national three cushion champion, expects to play the next match for the title in Cuba. DeOro, the challenger, is a Cuban by birth, and the city of Havana has donated a purse of $3,000 for the match. Daly, who is visiting in Chicago, said last night he was willing to make the trip to the island.

NEW YORK WAITS FOR COTTON TOLL

Report to Be Out Today; Will Have Great Influence on the Market.

CEREAL TALE IN A WEEK.

Damage Advices Received in Gotham, It Is Believed, Will Be Found to Be Far Fetched.

NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

New York, July 2.—[Special.]—Tomorrow the agricultural department will issue its report on the condition of the cotton crop, and, a week hence, the government's estimate of the July 1 condition of the cereal crops, including corn, will be published.

These two documents, while arousing less popular interest than is taken in such matters as the indictment of certain steel officials last week, and the report of the bureau of corporations on the United States Steel corporation, will, nevertheless, contain much more of real significance regarding the business and financial outlook during the balance of this year.

Volume of Business Drops.

Last week, despite some fairly wide price movements, the net result of trading upon the average position of the leading issues was slight. Business diminished in volume, as was natural in advance of the holiday which the country celebrates on Tuesday and because of the natural desire to obtain further light at this time upon the crop outlook.

There was no lack last week of private reports bearing on this, that, or the other crop, but the sum total of these estimates left no clear summary of the crop position. There was, however, a disposition in some quarters to modify the damage predictions which had previously been made, and even from South Dakota, whose wheat crop some of the private crop observers had practically abandoned, came reports of improvement as a result of recent rains.

So far as the position of the cotton belt is concerned, it is reasonable to hope, in view of all that is known of conditions in the southern states, that a record crop may be harvested. This is a point, however, upon which more light will be had with the publication of tomorrow's government report.

Reports May Be Exaggerated.

The grain fields have unquestionably suffered as compared with the June 1 condition, but not until next Monday's government report is at hand will any reliable basis be held for an estimate of the extent of the impairment which has taken place. It is possible, and even probable, that it will be found that recent damage reports have been much exaggerated.

Meanwhile, the general course of trade is far from showing any indication of retrogression, particularly if account be taken of the fact that we are now in a season of normally curtailed business activity. Last week brought further indication of improvements in the steel trade, and, in the fortnightly report of freight car surplusage, evidence was supplied of actual increase in the demand for freight equipment during the second and third weeks of June.

So long as such items of information as these continue to come to hand increasing ground will be afforded for the expectation that, with the final passing of the period of uncertainty regarding the crop situation, business will show sufficient expansion to lead to considerably heavier traffic on the railways and increased manufacturing and trading activity.

IN THE PARIS STOCK MARKET.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, July 2—Dullness and inactivity were features of the past week on the bourse. Although the change in the cabinet did not affect the market, there was no inclination for business, and the present slack conditions seem likely to continue a while longer. The half yearly settlement day was rather heavy and caused the price of money to rise slightly. Rio Tintos were rather firm. There was little demand for Americans.

NO FIXING PRICES, SAYS GARY.

Declares Trust Will Not Aid Such Move at Brussels Because It Would Be Unlawful Here.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 2.—After a week of unlimited hospitality at the hands of heads of the iron and steel industry in the kingdom, E. H. Gary said that he had nothing to add concerning the scope of the steel conference to be held at Brussels. He wished to emphasize the fact that there would be no attempt to regulate prices at the conference. The United States Steel corporation, he said, could not be a party to such an agreement, as it was against the laws of the United States.

A Guaranteed First Mortgage Bond Netting 6%

An Issue of $350,000 secured by an exceptionally efficient water power development and modern plant located in one of the most rapidly growing and prosperous sections of the United States.

1. The security is conservatively valued at $700,000, the bonds being issued at the extremely conservative rate of $60. per horse power developed.
2. In accordance with our usual plan the bonds mature serially and the margin of security will rapidly increase.
3. Net earnings of several times the average annual requirement for principal and interest are protected by contracts with reliable concerns.
4. The bonds are guaranteed and this guarantee places behind them additional assets worth nearly three times the amount of the issue.

A developed water power is a perpetual income-producing asset of increasing value, and we strongly recommend the bonds of this issue for investors seeking a conservative investment for their July funds.

SEES DEARTH IN U. S. BEEF SUPPLY

Live Stock Statistician Points Shortage in Fat Cattle; Chicago Central Mart.

DROUGHT CURTAILS CROP

West Feels Decrease Less and Supplies Bulk; Domestic Demand Increases.

Chicago will be the principal source of supply for fat cattle and the country's meat supply for several months to come, according to an analysis of the cattle and packing industries given by M. F. Horine, statistician of the Union Stock Yards and Transit company, yesterday. In the statement, Mr. Horine declares that the western supply of fat cattle practically has been cleaned up and the drought has precluded the possibility of a new crop within several months.

"A remarkable cattle situation exists in the United States," Mr. Horine says. "Until recently all markets were full of fat cattle. Now the supply situation shows a radical change. Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Kentucky have marketed their crops of fat cattle, and eastern points are not getting enough good cattle to supply their local needs.

Chicago Center of Trade.

"The character of receipts at Missouri river points shows the western supply of fat cattle has been cleaned up, which leaves Chicago about the only place on the market map of the United States where buyers can get adequate selection, and that is likely to be the case for a long time to come.

"The present situation had its origin in the drought conditions of last summer, which forced all the regions west and southwest of the Missouri river to prematurely market young and growing stock, which was largely absorbed by Illinois and surrounding states. Then followed a magnificent corn crop and a splendid winter feeding season, resulting in abundance of fat cattle.

West Has Greatest Supply.

"The supply is lasting much longer in the territory directly tributary to Chicago than either east or west, simply because conditions for a year past have favored an abundance of good cattle in this territory, and will make Chicago from now on until the next crop is fed the chief and almost the only supply point for fat cattle.

"Domestic demand for beef is increasing and there will be a strong and constant demand for beef of good quality.

"Adequate rains during the remainder of the season and another good corn crop will reveal the shortage of growing cattle in the country more sharply than at any time for twenty years, and prices for both young and fat cattle must almost certainly advance materially in the near future."

THE U. S. NAVY IS TODAY COMPOSED OF the finest body of picked men in the world. It has no place for the ne'er-do-well or the failure.

More than 1,000 men apply for positions in the Navy each week. Only about 20% of these pass the examination and are accepted. This shows that the Navy picks its men with rigorous care and pains.

The Navy does not urge any man to enlist. But it does urge both parents and sons to investigate the opportunities the Navy offers young men [17 to 35], either as a four years' training or as a life's work.

The life is healthful, the work agreeable, environment wholesome and helpful, and the man who wishes to learn by study and travel or to learn a trade will find ample opportunity, as will the man who desires to save money and win promotion and retirement on three-fourths pay.

The nearest Navy Recruiting Station is at 208 North 5th-av., Chicago, Ill. The officer in charge will be glad to see parents and sons, and explain everything you wish to know about work, pay, promotion, retirement, recreation, etc. Or send for "The Making of a Man-o'-Warsman"; it is free. SOUTHWEST CORNER OF CLARK-ST. TEL. CENTRAL 3416.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or income from other sources], who, while not in a position to borrow money from a bank, realize that exorbitant interest charged by professional money lenders is high and extortionate. I am connected with the Indiana Loan Credit and Trust Company of Chicago, co-partners, 4308 Grand-blvd., and, having private means of my own, I am willing to loan money with or without security and at a consideration but a trifle above bank rates, and never more than the interest legalized by the states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, the precise rate being determined by the amount loaned and risk assumed. My location [15 minutes from loop district via South Side elevated] assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings, where lenders congregate. Always best to telephone Drexel 54 for private appointment. Ask for MR. S.

MONEY FOR SALARIED PEOPLE — IF YOU hold a permanent salaried position we will loan you any reasonable sum from $10 upward WITHOUT security or knowledge of employer or friends. Our rates are LOW, payments easy. REBATE IF paid before due. QUICK SERVICE; long time if desired; no red tape; no extra charge; nothing taken out of loan in advance. Office hours 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Will receive courteous treatment whether you borrow or not.

TEACHERS START FOR CONVENTION

'Insurgent' Delegation Leaves for Coast Ready to Fight for Mrs. Young's Policy.

OPPOSED TO "RING RULE"

Row Over Dr. Butler's Election as N. E. A. Chairman Due to Be Renewed.

With the avowed intention of bringing about one of the most bitter fights that has stirred the ranks of the National Education association for many years, over 200 teachers from Chicago departed for the San Francisco convention on board a special train over the Burlington at 11 o'clock last night. The delegation formed the vanguard of a host of Illinois teachers that is expected to approximate nearly 1,000 members and which will form the nucleus of the "insurgent" force which plans to "do things" during the convention.

Following the main Chicago delegation, Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of the Chicago schools and president of the association, will leave on Wednesday for the convention. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Isabelle O'Keeffe, Dean Walter T. Sumner, and Julius F. Smietanka, representing the board of education. The little party will make a flying trip and will arrive in San Francisco next Saturday in ample time for the sessions of the executive committee which will precede the main convention.

Plan Fight on "Ring Rule."

It was a militant body which departed aboard the special train last night. Its plans are for a fight on the basis of organization of the association and the overturning of the system of government which has prevailed since the granting of the charter a number of years ago. This year the "insurgents," who overthrew all precedent a year ago at the Boston convention and elected Mrs. Young as president in a fight on the convention floor after she had been "turned down" by the nominating committee, plan to carry the fight against "ring rule" a step farther.

The chief move will be the presentation of a set of amendments to the present bylaws. Chief among these will be a proposal to abolish the national council, a subcommittee, in which is vested the power to recommend all appropriations and to formulate lines of research work and investigation. The council is self-perpetuating, in that it elects successors to the minority members which retire every year. It is declared by the "insurgents" to be the stronghold of "ring rule."

Young-Butler Row Renewed.

Another contest is expected next Monday, the opening day of the convention, at the annual meeting of the board of directors. At that time the contest between President Young and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, is scheduled to be renewed. It was President Young's contention that Dr. Butler was not properly elected as chairman of the board at the Boston meeting, and that the special meeting which was held at New York last winter and at which Dr. Butler was seated as chairman was not a legal meeting.

Mrs. Young refused to attend, and lodged her protest through Carrol G. Pearse, a director and superintendent of Milwaukee public schools. Mrs. Young's followers threaten to take the matter before the convention if the directors decide against their leader.

The closing of the convention also holds another fight, the election of a president. Mrs. Young has declared that she is not a candidate for reelection, it being an unwritten law of the organization that the president shall not be chosen for a second term. But her supporters declare that precedent was overthrown in her election at Boston, and that her record makes her the strongest "insurgent" candidate to pit against the choice of the "old guard" forces.

SWAT THE FLY! IT'S A DEADLY PERIL

WE have received several letters from communities which are desirous of starting an anti-fly campaign and asking how to conduct it. It is rather late in the season, but better late than never. Most of these places are small towns, which is a fortunate circumstance.

Let an improvement association be started and then appoint a fly fighting committee. If the town has a health officer enlist him in the work. The committee must visit the owners of every stable in the place and induce them to keep the horse manure in closed boxes and mixed with chloride of lime or sprinkled with kerosene and carbolic acid diluted with water. The manure should be removed from town as often as possible and taken to farms and gardens, where, if spread out thinly, it will not afford breeding places for flies. Don't let the stablemen maintain it in unprotected piles.

Next, make a house to house canvass on the garbage question. If farmers do not come for town garbage as feed for cattle, have all house refuse burned. Tin braziers can be bought for a small sum. Insist on people screening their houses. If flies get into homes destroy them by burning twenty drops of carbolic acid or some pyrethrun powder on a hot shovel with the doors and windows closed.

Search the town for filth and insist on its removal by the person responsible for it. The old fashioned vault is a source of fly breeding in small towns. Chloride of lime, kerosene, and carbolic acid should be poured into the vaults. Insist that the owners do this.

Write to Edward Hatch Jr., 156 Fifth avenue, New York, chairman of the fly fighting committee of the American Civic association, for literature. This will be sent without charge. Distribute these cards, circulars, and bulletins in your town. Get your local newspapers to reprint them or to run a department such as this is. Get the "Fly Pest" film and give lectures with the moving pictures.

Interest the school children next September. Have the teachers talk or let you talk to the children on the fly pest. Drum it into them that the fly is mankind's worst enemy and must be destroyed—in its breeding places if possible; if not, in the home. Offer small prizes to the children for the best composition on the danger from flies.

Make your physicians help you to spread the gospel of flylessness and cleanliness. Enlist all the sellers of screens and fly paper and the drug stores, where acids and other chemicals fatal to flies may be bought.

Keep up the fight till November, and then begin it again early next spring.
